SENSATIONAL DEVELOPMENTS

Result from Probe into Death of Rosenthal.

POLICE LIEUTENANT REPORTED MISSING

Officer Mentioned in the Case Disappears.

Witnesses Take Flight as Probe Goes On—Grand Jury Work Hampered. Detective Burns on the Trail—District Attorney Again Arraigns the Gotham Police—Rumors of All Sorts Keep Things Stirring.

New York, July 18.—William Shapiro, who drove the auto in which rode the murderers who killed Herman Rosenthal, the gambler, in front of the Hotel Metropole, after Rosenthal had accused the police of being in league with gamblers, today, through his attorney, Aaron J. Levy, charged that he was told by one of the murder party that the police had been "fixed" and that official arrangements had been made for the murderers to escape. This sensational statement followed fast action in which these things happened:

"Jack" Rose, friend to Police Lieutenant Charles A. Becker, whom Rosenthad alleged to be his partner, surrendered and was subsequently arrested on a charge of murder. He admitted hiring the automobile in which the murders escaped. Rose will be examined Monday.

Mayor Gaynor summoned Lieutenant Becker to his office for a conference and started an investigation that is believed to be the forerunner of a police shakeup.

Policeman William J. File, who was in the Metropole when the murder was committed, was suspended after Commissioner Waldo held an investigation to which all the police men who were in the vicinity at the time were called.

Third Day of Probe.

New York, July 18.—The third day of investigation into the assassination of Herman Rosenthal, the wealthy gambler, who was shot down at the Hotel Metropole early Tuesday morning, resulted in startling developments that promise decisive action by the district attorney and the police before night.

Following rumors that a high police official mentioned in connection with the case had committed suicide it was learned that Lieutenant Chas. Becker, alleged by Rosenthal to have been his partner, had disappeared from his home early last evening.

Three hours after he disappeared his wife also left the Becker home, and during the early hours no clue as to their whereabout could be obtained. Friends of the Beckers explained the couple's disappearance by saying they believed they had gone into retirement until the police official is in a position to refute the charges that have been made against him.

The investigation is being pressed in every way possible by District Attorney Whitman. He is firm in his belief that the gambler's assassination was due directly or indirectly to the instigation of certain members of the police force, who had profited from tribute levied upon the gambling fraternity here, and who feared that Rosenthal would betray their connection with the graft.

Witnesses Take Flight.

The grand jury probe into the killing of the "betrayer," which started yesterday with the calling of four witnesses, may be hampered by the flight of Tenderloin characters and gamblers, who have left to avoid testifying. The man most vigorously sought now is "Jack" Rose, a gambler and friend of Lieutenant Becker.

Assemblyman A. J. Levy, counsel for Louis Libby and William or "Antonio" Shapiro, owners of the car in which the Rosenthal assassins escaped, has stated that his two clients admitted to him that it was Rose who hired the slate-colored automobile Monday night. It was hired, they said, about 10 o'clock Monday night, three hours before Rosenthal was shot to death. This is regarded as the most important development up to date in the sensational case. The grand jury is also investigating a report that it was really Rose and not Becker, as previously alleged, who lent the $1,500 with which Rosenthal started one of his many gambling houses.

It is rumored that Detective William J. Burns, who worked up the McNamara and other famous cases, has been retained by a private citizen to run down the Rosenthal slayers in the interests of the public good.

Young Schwartz Inhales Gas To End Existence.

YOUTH CONFESSES FIENDISH CRIME

Then Expresses Deep Contrition for It.

Following Finding of Three Notes Left by Murderer and Identification of Body, the Police Discover Full Confession, Evidently Written Just Before Schwartz Inhales Gas and Takes His Last Sleep.

New York, July 18.—Nathan Schwartz, confessed murderer of twelve-year-old Julia Connors, committed suicide by inhaling gas at No. 219 Chrystie street early today. The striking resemblance of the body to the description of Schwartz caused the police to immediately summon members of the dead man's family, and positive identification was made by Phillip Schwartz, a brother.

Schwartz left three hastily-scribbled notes confessing the fiendish crime, and expressing contrition for it.

Following the discovery of the notes and identification of the body, a further search of the room by the police revealed a complete confession which evidently had been written just before the man turned on the gas preparatory to taking his last sleep, and cheating justice of her due for one of the most shocking crimes ever committed.

The confession that Schwartz left was dated yesterday. It was apparently written in the idea that he would be able to comfort his mother with his last words. He said he was doing as he had been told to do by his father. The confession in full was as follows:

Confession in Full.

"July 17—This is only to my dear old mother, who I am always homesick for, and same to the rest and Pa, whose word I am taking by doing this which I figure to assist me in death in my own estimation.

"I want to say that if I was happened to be revived, in order to be executed, I will take that medicine just the same. My last job was at the Pocketbook Manufacturing company at No. 74 Grand street. He owes me for two days' work. Please secure pay and give to my mother, for she is very, very poor, and for the truth my dear brother has lots of money and does not want to settle the old folks on a farm for simple life.

"I am very sorry to cause the trouble to neighbors, but all he will have to do is to call a cop.

"Tell mother again that I am really guilty and she shall not cry her eyes out and break her heart. I know she thinks I am innocent.

"I am sorry I done it, but I got crazy, as I often do, and you can't blame me for what I have done."

Body Is Identified.

New York, July 18.—After writing a note in which he expressed regret "for having stabbed Julia Connors to death," a young man committed suicide in a room at No. 219 Chrystie street by inhaling gas. After a preliminary investigation, the police declared their belief that the suicide was Nathan Schwartz, under indictment for the murder of the twelve-year-old girl.

WILSON TAKES HELM OF SHIP

As It Is Launched by Democrats at Conference.

ARRANGEMENTS MADE FOR THE CAMPAIGN

By Tonight Everything Will Be in Shape.

The Governor's Letter of Acceptance of Democratic Nomination for the Presidency on the Democratic Ticket Will Be Written Early Next Week, He Tells His Friends Today. Conference of Leaders.

Seagirt, N. J., July 18.—By tonight rapid steps will have been taken in mapping out the national Democratic campaign. Governor Wilson's guiding hand was at the helm of the ship today as it was launched at a conference with these Democratic leaders:

William F. McCombs, of New York, chairman of the national committee; William Saulsbery, of Delaware; Josephus Daniel, of North Carolina; A Mitchell Palmer, of Pennsylvania; Joseph Davis, of Wisconsin; Senator Gore, of Oklahoma; Senator O'Gorman, of New York; William G. McAdoo, of New York, and Senator Culberson, of Texas.

Henry Morgenthau, the New York real estate man, was regarded today as the most likely candidate for treasurer. He is said to have made generous contributions to Wilson's pre-convention campaign.

The eastern headquarters will probably be located in New York, and the western in either Chicago or Denver.

To Name Committee.

Colonel McCombs has been empowered by the national committee to name a campaign committee of not less than nine. It is significant that the men brought here for the conference with Governor Wilson this afternoon form exactly that number.

Governor Wilson said the question of his resignation from the governor-ship would be discussed with his friends, and that his conclusion in the matter would then be announced.

Mr. Wilson's letter of acceptance will be written early next week.

"I shall want to be alone when I undertake to write that document," he said. "I propose to go away for a few days where I can not be disturbed. But first I must study the Democratic platform."

All Swim to Safety.

PANAMA CANAL BILL DISCUSSED

Involved Controversy Comes Up in Senate.

PAYMENT OF TOLLS IS THE MAIN ISSUE

Senator Lodge Leads in the Argument.

Lodge Claims That If Question Raised by British Government Is Taken to The Hague, That Tribunal Would Decide Against the United States. Tolls Paid in the Suez Canal Are Presented.

Washington, July 18.—The question of payment of tolls for use of the Panama canal by American vessels engaged in the coastwise trade was the subject of involved controversy in the senate Wednesday when the Panama canal bill was taken up.

Senator Lodge held the floor, but he frequetnly was interrupted and the discussion assumed the character of a colloquy, carried on by half a dozen members. The burden of Senator Lodge's argument was if the United States saw fit to do so it could refund to American vessels the amount paid by them for use of the canal, and such action would be no infringement on the treaty with Great Britain. But he firmly maintained that under the convention no privileges or immunities should be granted to American vessels which were not accorded to vessels of other nations.

Lodge said he did not want to see his government exposed even to the suggestion of acting in bad faith in the matter of the treaty. The government should be punctilious in the observance of the treaty's terms, he argued. If special privileges were granted to American vessels in the way of free tolls, Lodge said, undoubtedly the question would be taken to The Hague, and he expressed the opinion that that tribunal would decide against the United States. Senator Lodge said, as he understood the British note, Great Britain takes the position that this country can not pay the tolls of American vessels, because it would amount to giving them free passage through the canal. From this attitude a number of senators strongly dissented.

A Domestic Question.

Lodge would not admit any foreign power had the right to say what we should give to our ships or to any other domestic enterprise. That was a domestic question, he said, for the United States and no one else to settle. If this government saw fit to give American ships the benefits of the canal, which it has built and paid for, by reimbursing them for the tolls, the United States had a clear right to do so and would not be violating the treaty.

Senator Crawford asked if such action would not violate the principle that one can not do by indirection what was clearly forbidden by direction.

Senator Lodge replied the proposal to pay the tolls of American ships, and that to grant American ships privileges not accorded to the ships of other nations were entire-

BOLTS DOOR ON THE DETECTIVE

And Refuses To Accept Subpoena to Inquest.

THE WOMAN SIGNAL OPERATOR OBDURATE

Coroner Unable To Proceed with His Duties.

You Are Wanted To Appear at Inquest Over Bodies of Thirteen Persons, Who Are Killed in Wreck, Shouts Detective to Woman Behind Locked Door, but She Refuses To Open It—The Case.

Chicago, July 18.—Behind a locked door guarded by two strong men to resist any effort to force it, Mrs. Fisk A. Wilcox, signal operator at Western Springs, where the Denver Limited of the Burlington lines was shattered by the fast Omaha mail Sunday, and thirteen persons ground to death, refused to accept service on a coroner's subpoena to appear at the inquest which opened today in Lagrange. It was at first reported that Mrs. Wilcox had been spirited away. This was found to be untrue.

Detective George Scrivner, of the coroner's office, found her at her home in Lagrange. He attempted to enter the building, but Mrs. Wilcox refused to admit him.

"You are wanted to appear at the inquest over the bodies of the thirteen persons, who were killed in the Burlington wreck," shouted the detective.

"I don't care," answered a defiant feminine voice. "You can't come in here. I won't see any one."

The detective enlisted the aid of Postmaster Munn, of Lagrange, and County Constable Hoppenrach. They were repulsed.

Mrs. Wilcox is said to have told a friend that she would willingly appear later. Knowledge that Coroner Hoffman planned to investigate fully the fact of her commitment to Dunning insane hospital some years ago is believed to have caused the woman's determination to resist a subpoena. The coroner planned to call the woman's husband.

A thorough probe of the story of Frank Woodworth, flagman of the limited, was expected to be taken up first by the coroner.

FINANCING OF PARKER'S RACE

Explained to the Investigating Committee.

THE 1904 CAMPAIGN COSTS $1,000,000

Not a Dollar Contributed by the Trusts.

William F. Sheehan, Chairman of Democratic Campaign Committee in 1904, Appears Before the Senate Probers and Is Questioned by Chairman Clapp as to Contributions and Expenses.

Washington, July 18.—One million dollars, approximately, financed Alton B. Parker's campaign for the presidency, according to testimony given today by William F. Sheehan, of New York, chairman of the executive committee of the Democratic national committee in 1904, before the senate committee investigating campaign expenses. He was unable to give the names of any individuals, who made contributions to greater amounts than $5,000 or $10,000 except August Belmont.

"There was not a dollar directly or indirectly subscribed by trusts," said Mr. Sheehan, in answer to a question as to whether the contributors formed any business alignment. "We adopted a rule not to receive any money from trusts. I recall that a check for $10,000 was sent to the state campaign committee by the American Sugar Refining company—not by Mr. Havemeyer. The executive committee learned of this, and before the check was cashed requested that it be returned. This is the only instance of that sort which I recall."

"Do you recall the total fund contributed for the campaign," Sheehan was asked.

Approximate Amount.

"I do not, but an impression, I should say, approximately $1,000,000, which would include money not handled by the committee, but which went into the books contributed to the New York state campaign. I think the committee handled directly about $800,000.

Chairman Clapp endeavored to obtain information concerning the present residence of Assistant Treasurer Hall, who is supposed to have detailed knowledge of the contributions as he succeeded George F. Peabody in the management of the treasury's affairs. Mr. Sheehan was unable to supply the information. He told the committee he had set in motion solicitors to obtain funds and that he very likely obtained a good deal himself, but that the late Colonel Daniel S. Lamont had been most active along this line.

"Did the national committee receive this money?"

"We sent some to Maine and other states that looked doubtful, among them Colorado and Nebraska."

CLOUDBURST DOES GREAT DAMAGE

Flood Forces Many Pennsylvanians To Flee for Lives.

Shamokin, Pa., July 18.—A cloudburst, which swept over this district last night and early today, caused widespread devastation and damage estimated at nearly $1,000,000. At Herndon, the flood forced many residents to flee for their lives. Railroads were washed away in many places and trains delayed.

Hail as large as baseballs fell, and the planing mill at Herndon was struck by lightning and badly damaged by fire.

Sunbury and the Susquehanna valley were also victims of the cloudburst. The water stood five feet deep in many places. At New Berlin, people were rescued from houses by ropes.

AVIATION CLAIMS ANOTHER VICTIM

Lieutenant Preusser Killed at the Lindenthal Aerodrome.

Berlin, July 18—Aviation claimed another human sacrifice today when Lieutenant Preusser, of the Imperial air corps, was killed at the Lindenthal aerodrome by a precipitate descent of his aeroplane.

The airman's machine struck the earth with such force that it was capsized and wrecked, and Preusser was crushed beneath the motor.

THIRTEEN DIE IN A TRAIN WRECK

Omaha Mail Plows Into the Denver Limited.

AT WESTERN SPRINGS, NEAR CHICAGO, SUNDAY

Triple Investigation of Accident Is Started.

Whether Engineer of Mail Train Sees and Disregards Signals or Whether He Dies from Effects of Heat While at the Throttle, Are Questions Probers Face Today. Many Persons Are Injured.

Chicago, July 15.—A triple investigation of the wreck that caused thirteen deaths when the Omaha Mail plowed into the rear of the Denver Limited on the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad at Western Springs just west of Chicago, was begun today. The railroad officials, the Cook county coroner and the state railway commission each began a probe of the disaster in an effort to fix the responsibility for the accident.

The dead engineer of the mail train, a woman signal operator and the flagman of the limited were the points of a triangular puzzle that the various investigators sought to solve. Whether any one of the three failed in the duties of their tasks is the question about which the investigation revolves. According to the facts set out in the first reports of the accident, the block signal operated by the woman, Mrs. F. A. Wilcox, agent for the railroad at Western Springs was set at danger, warning the approaching train of the train ahead. As a further precaution, it is asserted the flagman of the limited was sent back with his signals and placed torpedoes on the rails to signal the mail train engineer to stop. The mail train dashed past the block signal, swung forward over the torpedoes and crashed into the stationary limited.

Whether the engineer saw and disregarded the signals, whether they were properly set, or whether the engineman met with some accident before the collision occurred, is one of the questions that the investigators are seeking to solve.

Vouchers for Torpedoes.

"There were torpedoes on the track," said P. S. Eustace, general passenger traffic manager of the Burlington. "Whether they were set at a proper distance from the standing train is a matter we are investigating. Our reports indicate that the warning signals were all properly given."

Eustace defended the practice of employing women for station agents and putting them in charge of signals.

"We employ women for such places because they are always on the alert," Eustace said. "They attend to their duties faithfully."

On the testimony of Mrs. Wilcox much will depend. Following the crash she collapsed, but today she probably will be able to tell her story to the coroner.

Mrs. Wilcox is the only witness yet discovered who knows definitely about the conditions that prevailed just before the accident occurred. She is positive that her signals were properly set, and that the warnings to the engineer of the mail train were as complete as the rules provide or as they could be made with the means that the train crew of the passenger possessed.

The fact that she is so positive on this point, and the trainmen of the limited corroborate her testimony, brought out another angle of the tragedy.

Puzzling Question.

Engineer George Bronson, fifty-four years old, engineer of the mail train, could have been overcome by the heat, died of heart failure or became suddenly insane shortly before the accident is a question that Coroner Hoffman is asking. In order to determine whether the engineer's death was due to the hurts he received when his struck the limited or whether he may have died before, the coroner plans to hold a post-mortem examination on Bronson.

A witness who may help clear up this tangle is H. O. Crain, fireman of the mail train, terribly injured in the accident and now lying in St. Anthony de Padua hospital, too weak to tell his experiences. As soon as he grows stronger he will be questioned by the three sets of investigators.

The officials of the Burlington are clearly puzzled by the accident. The Omaha Mail is a train famous among western railroad men. It races between Denver and Chicago at a speed higher than that maintained by any passenger train on the road. Only the most expert, experienced and trustworthy engineemen are put in charge of the train. Although it has been operated at a speed that is the very limit of safety, its history is marked with only a few slight accidents. That the engineer of such a train could have been guilty of gross carelessness is a thing the railroad men do not believe possible.

Three of the dead have as yet been identified. They are two women and a little girl, nine years old. Efforts were made today to ascertain their names.

The injured are in Chicago hospitals.

Woman Is Killed.

Mrs. Wilcox was taken before a board of railway officials at Aurora this morning and grilled regarding the wreck. She asserted that she had set the signals to stop the mail train. Cross-examination failed to shake her story.

H. O. Crane, fireman of the mail train, on his cot in a hospital, asserted that Engineer Bronson was not to blame.

"We were going about seventy miles an hour at Hinsdale, and the block signals gave us a clear track," he said.

"That was ten miles back. We got no warning until we were within 150 yards of the passenger train. Then some one flagged us and a couple of torpedoes were exploded. There was no time to stop."

Chicago detectives today were sent to Western Springs, Hinsdale and Lagrange to investigate stories that vandals had robbed many of the dead in the wreck.

DRASTIC RULES ARE LAID DOWN

Commerce Commission After Express Companies.

GREAT SLASH IN RATES IS ORDERED

Sweeping Reductions To Help the Shippers.

Prepaid Packages Must Be Plainly Designated So That Receiver Can Not Be Compelled To Pay Double Charges—Report Shows How the Railroad Companies and Express People Work Together.

Washington, July 15.—Sweeping reductions in rates charged by express companies have been ordered by the interstate commerce commission, which has also ordered far-reaching reforms in the regulations and practices of the companies. In addition it has imposed upon them a uniform system of making rates.

The order of the commission, while not final, is subject only to a hearing to be given the express companies on Oct. 9. The commission calls upon the companies to show cause at that time why the changes in rates and practices should not immediately go into effect. While the average reduction is only 20 per cent, the reductions, taken altogether, range from 10 to 50 per cent.

An important requirement of the commission is that the companies shall adopt a distinctive tag or label which will clearly show whether a package has been prepaid or not. In the event of doubt the receiver of a package will not be compelled to pay and the express companies will no longer have the benefit of the thousands of dollars that have flowed into their treasuries through double charges. In short, the decision of the commission revolutionizes the express business in this country.

An appendix to the interstate commerce commission's exhaustive report on the express business of the country discloses in detail the remarkable interlacing of corporate interests between the express companies and the railroads and among the express companies themselves. The commission shows that in several instances the most favorable contracts given by the express companies to the railroads go to the roads which have directors in common with the express companies. The commission points out that the express company directors make contracts with themselves as railroad directors. This appendix to the report also discloses for the first time a list of the principal stockholders in the big express companies.

YOUTH OF SIXTEEN MAKES BIG HAUL

Gets $500,000 in Checks and $225 in Currency.

Buffalo, N. Y., July 15.—Joseph Killen, sixteen, who stole $500,000 in checks and $225 in currency from the United Cigar company, of New York City, and later tossed the checks into the street in Albany, was arrested early this morning in the Central railroad station while waiting for a train to take him to Kansas City.

Killen gave the name of Joseph McCarthy, and said the money in his possession was stolen from his father, who lived in Jersey City. Later, he acknowledge the theft of the checks and money from the cigar company. Killen lives at No. 104 Armstrong street, Jersey City.

THE YANKEES VICTORIOUS

Have Scores To Spare as Olympic Games Close.

AMERICAN INDIAN IS HERO OF GAMES

Five Straight Olympaids Won by American Team.

When American Indian Sweeps Star Spangled Banner to Victory in Last Big Event Today in Stockholm. American Cheers Until Big Stadium Fairly Rocks—Details and Scores.

Stockholm, July 15.—The fifteenth renewal of the Olympiad came to a close this afternoon in a blaze of glory for the Americans. The team representing "Old Glory" captured the international games with scores to spare and made it five straight Olympiads. The feature of the afternoon's event was the winning of the decathlon by James Thorpe, a "real American." Thorpe is an American Indian and wears the colors of the Carlisle Indian school. Thorpe had previously won the pentathalon and when he swept the star spangled banner to victory again this afternoon the great stadium rang with cheers.

Although there are a few events under the head of "gentlemen sports" to take place this week, the Olympiad is over, and it ended with the following standing for the contesting teams, points based on all events:

United States, 128; Sweden, ninety-five; Great Britain, sixty-three; Germany, thirty-five; Finland, thirty-one; France, twenty three; South Africa, sixteen; Denmark, thirteen; Italy, thirteen, Canada, eleven; Norway, ten; Australia, ten; Hungary, eight; Belgium, seven; Austria, four; Russia, three; Holland, two.

A Great Athlete.

Shorpe's agregate points for the the greatest all-round athletes in the world. He far outclassed his rivals in the decathlon. He ran the 1,500-meter event in the decathlon in four minutes, 40 1-5 seconds, the best time ever made, save when the 1,500-meter was run as an individual event.

Shorpe's aggregate points for the decathlon were 8,412. Weislander, of Sweden, finished second with 7,724; Lomberg, of Sweden, was third with 7,413; Homer of Sweden, was fourth with 7,347, James J. Donaghue, of Los Angeles, was fifth with 7,083; Eugene L. Mercer, of the University of Pennsylvania, was sixth with 7,074.

More Points Added.

Stockholm, July 15.—America took a first and a second in the first two events of today's program capturing five points, bringing the total of points for all games up to 125.

The United States captured the 1,600-relay race final and took second place in the 800-meter swimming relay race.

The French team ran second to the United States in the 1,600 meter land event, and Great Britain finished third. The Yankees' time for the 1,600-meter was three minutes 16 3-5 seconds.

The members of the speedy American running team were Melvin W. Sheppard of the Irish-American Athletic club; James E. Meredith, of Mercersburg, Pennsylvania academy; Charles D. Reidpath, of Syracuse university, and Edward Lindberg, of the Chicago A. A.

Australia won the 800-meter swimming relay race in ten minutes 11 1-5 seconds. Perry McGillivray, of America, finished second and Great Britain was third.

Alderstock, Adlerz, of Sweden, took the high-diving event with 369 points; Zurner, of Germany, was second with 363, and Bloogren, of Sweden, third with 347 points. America failed to show.

England Is Winner.

In the 400-meter swimming relay race for women, England was first, Germany second and Austria third.

"Old Glory" was represented by an invincible quartet in the 1,600-meter relay race. Two of them, Ted Meredith, the schoolboy marvel, of the Mercersburg academy, and Charles D. Reidpath, of Syracuse university, had been snapping their fingers at old records since the meet began. While it was accepted as a foregone conclusion that the Yankee team would win, nevertheless the enthusiasm of the American spectators was not discounted.

From the start, the Americans held the lead, while the runners, representing Great Britain, Hungary and France, tried in vain to overcome the advantage of Uncle Sam's runners. There never was a moment when the United States was in danger of losing. Hearty cheers ripped the air when the Yankees breezed into the finishing tape first. As the American flag was run up the whoops of glee continued.

The American swimmers made a gallant try in the 800-meter relay swimming race, but could not outdistance their speedy opponents from the antipodes.

Of the Yankee swimmers, Kahanmoku, the Hawaiian, did the best work. McGillivray of the Illinois A. C., got a good lead, but H. J. Hebner, of the Illinois A. C. was beaten out. Kenneth Huzach, of the Chicago A. A., managed to hold his own, but could not gain upon his opponent. The Hawaiian gained upon his competitor, but not enough to wrest the victory from the Australians.

Finland and Sweden swept the boards in the 800-meter cross-country run. First place went to H. Kohlemainen, of Finland, while Anderson and Eke, of Sweden finished respectively second and third.

The bad feeling that has characterized the swimming races since the start of the games came to a climax today. While Eric Bargvall, president of the Olympic swimming committee, was refereeing a water polo game between the teams of Belgium and Australia, one of the Belgian players took exception to a ruling and deliberately struck Bergvall in the face. The referee disqualified the Belgian players.

Boxing on Programs.

Baron Coubert, in charge of the Olympic program, announced today that at the request of the New York state boxing commission the committee would put on boxing programs for future Olympiads whenever practicable.

Secretary Charles Harvey, of the New York state boxing commission, came here from New York and appeared before the committee on that branch of sport.

H. H. Hallowell, of the New York A. C., who finished twelfth in the 8,000-meter cross-country races, was the first American to cross the tape.

James Thorpe, of the Carlisle Indian school, added three points more to America's score by winning the decathlon. Weislander, of Sweden, was second, and Lomberg, of Sweden, third. The victory of the American Indian, duplicating as it did his triumph in the pantathalon, was the occasion for another wild outburst from the American seats. The spectators regarded this as a real American victory, the victor being one of the aborigines of the land of the stars and stripes..

Platt Adams, of the New York Athletic club, was the only American who had a chance in the hop, skip and jump in the decathlon. This even was won by Lindblom, of Sweden. Aberg, of Sweden, was second, and Almlof, of Sweden, was third. Adams was fourth. The best that Adams could do in the hop, skip and jump was 46.22 feet, whereas the distance of Lindblom, the Swedish winner, was 48,42 feet.

Wins Pole Vault.

Eugene L. Mercer, of the University of Pennsylvania, who showed up so prominently in the pentathalon, won the pole vault event of the decathlon with ease. Mercer's jump was three meters and sixty centimeters, or eleven feet, 9¾ inches.

James J. Donohue, of the Los Angeles, California, Athletic club, was second with a jump of three meters and four centimeters, or eleven feet, 1¼ inches, while James Thorpe, the Carlisle Indian school athlete, was third with three meters and twenty-five centimeters, or ten feet, six inches.

SENATOR LORIMER NOW UNDECIDED

Ousted Senator May Seek Vindication at the Polls.

Washington, July 15. — "William Lorimer is going back to Chicago and going to work." That was the brief announcement made in behalf of the man whom the senate stripped of his seat and title as junior senator from the sovereign state of Illinois.

Whether he will re-enter politics and seek a vindication at the hands of the Illinois electorate, Mr. Lorimer has not decided. Some of his former colleagues in the senate have suggested that he seek a return to the seat in the house of representatives which he left when the Illinois legislature sent him to the senate. But that, his friends say, is at least two years away, as would be any effort to be returned to the senate. Mr. Lorimer would have to go before the people of Illinois in a primary, and it is now too late to take part in this year's contest.

The vote by which Lorimer was deprived of his seat was 55 to 28, both Ohio senators voting against the Illinois senator.

Portuguese Entrant in Marathon Drops Out Seven Miles From Finish—Officials Say Man Does Not Train Properly for the Race. An Investigation Is Made—Americans Feel Fine.

Stockholm, July 15.—Lazara, a Portugese entrant in yesterday's Marathon race of the Olympic games, died today from the effect of his long run. Lazaro did not finish the race, but dropped out seven miles from the finish after having run over seventeen miles. Following an official investigation, his death was attributed to heart failure induced by overexertion and sun stroke.

Lazaro had not trained properly for the race. Lazaro, along with the other runners, was examined by a physician before the contest began and was passed.

Olympic officials indignantly denied that the Marathon race imposed cruelties upon the runners taking part. They declare that the death of Lazaro was due to imperfect training. The only other runner to feel any ill effects from the gruelling contest is Slavik, of Bohemia, who is ill. All of the Americans who competed were in excellent condition. They spent the day seeing the sights of Stockholm.

THE SILENT FORCES.

By William T. Ellis.

The International Sunday-School Lesson for July 21 Is, "The Growth of the Kingdom." Mark 4:26-32. Matthew 13:33.

A seed fell into a crevice in a rock, where dust and soil had gathered. A tiny green shoot soon appeared. This grew into a sapling; the sapling grew into a tree; and, lo, such was the power of the living thing, that the mighty rock was sundered. There are seeds of new ideas sprouting in our time in the cracked rocks of ancient customs and conservatism. Because the seeds seem little, foolish men have disregarded them. If there is any lesson in the day's newspaper, or in this old story of the mustard seed, as told by Jesus, it is that what is despised today may be mighty tomorrow.

While we study the parable of the insignificant little seed that became a great plant, let us give a glance in passing to the amazing folly of organized Christianity, which has ever shown itself strangely blind to the tendencies of its own times, and which has been at no pains to guide the shaping forces of life. Such potent agencies as the Sunday-school and the Young People's society have had to come to their greatness of power before ever the organized churches realized their potentialities. Who, among all the leaders of Christendom, would think it the business of the church to encourage choice young men to go into journalism, not for the purposes of religious propaganda, but for purposes of human service and kingdom ministry? So, too, young men and young women become teachers of the young without ever an inspiring or guiding word from their religious leaders. Who gives heed to the men who draw the pictures of the periodical press, which so affect the thinking of the masses? Has any ecclesiastical assembly ever devoted five minutes to a consideration of the power of the song writer, or even of the men who determine the character of a nation's humor? I know a little woman who writes hundreds of Sunday-school songs, sung by the very little children—songs that make an abiding impression upon the plastic mind of youth; I doubt, though, if she has ever had a word of praise or encouragement or suggestion from any Christian leader of our time. The truth is the churches are culpably derelict in underrating and ignoring the forces which fix the ideals of our day. The seeds and saplings that are to become the trees of tomorrow might be better for a little tending.

All the great forces grow silently. There is less power in a noisy crowd than there is in the retired thinker in his study. The philosopher, the inventor, the scientist, working apart from man, unheeded and unappraised by even his nearest neighbors, may be setting into motion forces which will profoundly affect the life of tomorrow. All about us the mustard seed parable is being enacted. Let us learn its lesson, and not despise the day of small things.

Patience With the Seed

Noobdy has such faith as the farmer. He spends winter, spring, and most of summer in preparing for his harvest. With seed in the ground, he simply waits, working, it is true, while he waits. The seed can not be hurried if it is to bring forth good fruit. Nevertheless, the farmer is an incurable optimist. He expects a harvest, although he recognizes that it takes a miracle of nature to produce it every year.

In religion, too, something of the same patience with the seed is needed. The Christian church has undertaken to raise a world-wide harvest. As yet, the seed is only germinating in the ground in many places. Thus, in India there has been a wonderful sowing of Christian truth, but the full harvest is not yet. All over that wonderful land an observer may see the mustard seed of truth sprouting, and he has faith that the day is to come when that great tree, whose leaves shall be for the healing of the nations, will result. But patience is needed.

Here is an article of every Christian's creed that should permeate all his thinking; whether we watch it or not, whether we understand it or not, the kingdom of heaven is growing and coming. In ways beyond our ken, and by agencies that are past human grasp, that kingdom, which means man's weal—as well as God's glory, is steadily rising toward its fullness of dominion.

The Time That Tests.

It is good for a man's soul to be on friendly terms with a garden. From old Jerusalem I brought some seeds of poppies, grown in the "Garden of the Tomb." They were as fine as dust. It seemed incredible that out of them should ever grow great and beautiful flowers. I have planted them and now am watching for the growth. At the present stage I can not tell what are weeds and what are poppies: both are growing together. My only course is to wait. The end will prove the poppies. If thus we are necessarily patient with natural forces, why not be equally patient with spiritual forecs? The lesson of the seed taught by Jesus was repeated by the poet:

"Flower in the crannied wall,
I pluck you out of the crannies;
Hold you here, root and all, in my hand
Little flower;—but if I could understand
What you are, root and all, and all in all
As we wait and watch for the coming of the kingdom, even as for the coming of the flowers, let us be admonished not to get excited. Flowers will vindicate our waiting. The mustard seed will become a tree that will shelter birds. The kingdom of heaven will increasingly exercise its benign ministries upon the people. Its ultimate triumph is sure. Our faith in all seed should enhance our faith in the seed which is the Word.

Some Kingdom Blunders.

There are three classes of people who especially need the teaching of this parable of the mustard seed, for they are blundering in the matter of the kingdom's coming.

First, there is the kingdom-to-come-in-a-hurry crowd. They are sure that the millenium will dawn tomorrow. They see in every express train and in the infant airship a fulfillment of the prophecy that men shall run to and fro over the earth. Few of these are gifted with any historical sense, and they are ignorant of the fact that their same type of character got just as excited over the introduction of the stage coach. In the wireless telegraph and in the discovery of the North pole they see signs of the swift coming of the kingdom. They have no patience: they cannot understand any other time than the present day: their sense of proportions is lacking. Every commotion among the nations in our own time is to them an evidence that the fullnes of all times has come. These need to remember the parable of the mustard seed. The kingdom's coming is a growth. The seed that germinated so wonderfully in the first centuries has been steadily doing its work, but not yet is its growth accomplished.

In the second place, there is the heedless crowd who are really not watching for the kingdom's coming. They see no growth and are not perturbed by any apparent declension. To them religion is an unreal sort of fairy realm, to be taken on somebody's say so. They are not among those who are watching. To them might come anew the Master's word, "Can ye not discern the signs of the times?"

The third company are the pessimists, who are sure that the kingdom is having sorry times of it, and that the prince of the powers of this world is having things all his own way. They are sure that the world is growing worse, and the only comfort their little souls enjoy is that they themselves are a saving salt in the midst of so much wickedness. There is no rainbow in their sky. All the signs that come to them are interpreted as tokens of defeat. These, too, need the parable of the kingdom that grows greater and offers shelter for many creatures. They especially need to observe more closely things in the large.

Signs of Promise.

Why did Jesus tell this story, anyhow? What was the first purpose of the parable? Was it not to hearten His friends, who would have many reasons for discouragement, with the conviction that the kingdom, to which they had given their lives, was a conquering kingdom. At the base of the parable is a note of assurance. The kingdom of heaven is coming. Let us get that convicion into the groundwork of all our thinking, and we shall see its fulfillment on every hand. Who so looks at life in its relationships and with a wide ho knowing somewhat of other turies than his own, will ob signs of promise everywhere.

It may be recommended for t ligious pessimist that he stud growth of Christianity in the leges of our time—the thousan Bible classes maintained by th dents themselves, their work fo needy, and their foreign missi activity.

RICH GAMBLER ASSASSINATED

For Revealing Secrets to New York Police.

MAN SHOT DOWN AT SWELL HOTEL

Assassins Escape by Aid of an Automobile.

Wealthy New Yorker Is Summoned to Street in Front of Hotel and as He Steps Out of Doorway, He Is Shot Down, Death Being Almost Instantaneous—Police Arrest the Chauffeur; Others Get Away.

New York, July 16.—Within ten hours after the assassination of Herman Rosenthal, a wealthy gambler, in front of the Hotel Metropole early today because of revelations he had made concerning gamblers' tribute for police protection, the authorities had two men under arrest and two others were being detained as material witnesses.

Louis Libby, owner and driver of the car in which the assassins escaped, was also under arrest charged with murder; Libby's partner, William Shapiro, was also held. 'Jack' Clark, a professional gambler, and Charles Gallagher, a hotel singer, were detained as material witnesses

Inspector Hughes, in charge of the detectives, said there was no doubt about Libby being the man who drove the murderers away from the scene of the crime in a high-power gray-bodied motor car.

Just before noon, George S. Dougherty, second deputy commissioner of police, took Libby with him to the office of Coroner Feinberg, where an inquest into the death of Rosenthal was held. He was remanded Before this the automobile driver had been put through the "third degree."

Assassins Escape.

New York, July 16.—Herman Rosenthal, a wealthy gambler, who maintained a palatial home at No. 14 west Fort-Ninth street, was assassinated in front of the Hotel Metropole in west Forty-Third street early today. Four men, who escaped from the scene in a slate-colored auto, fired the shots which killed the well known gambler in the very heart of New York's white light district. A chauffeur, named Libby, was arrested. The police declared Libby was not only the man at the steering wheel of the motor in which the murderers fled, but also one of the men who fired the shots. Libby, the chauffeur, was locked up at the west Forty-Seventh street Police station charged with homicide.

The assassination of Rosenthal followed revelations which he had made to District Attorney Whitman of a full scale of prices charged by the police for the operation of all kinds of gambling in New York. Rosenthal had further charged that Chas. Becker, a police lieutenant, in charge of what is generally known as the "strong arm" squad, was a partner with Rosenthal in the conduct of his gambling house District Attorney Whitman had summoned ten policemen and two lawyers, the latter charged with being brokers' counsel, to appear before the grand jury today According to witnesses, one of the men who was in the auto when Rosenthal was shot wore a policeman's uniform This is believed to have been a ruse to attach suspicion to the police

Gamblers Suspected.

The actual gamblers are believed to have been gamblers disgruntled because revelations which Rosenthal made have stirred up trouble for other members of the gambling fraternity in New York. Following Rosenthal's allegations, Police Commissioner Waldo had declared that gambling must be stamped out in this city

The shooting occurred about 2 o'clock this morning after Rosenthal had been lured from the Metropole hotel by a message that a man wanted to see him outside. Rosenthal reached the hotel about midnight where he had evidently had an appointment He had some drinks with companions and talked earnestly to them for over an hour.

Upon being told that some one wanted to see him at the front door of the hotel, Rosenthal followed the messenger. No sooner had he reached the pavement than a shot rang out quickly, followed by four others Just as Rosenthal reached the sidewalk, a low, gray-bodied touring car, which had been standing on the other side of the street, crossed over. The man who fired the first shot and who later escaped with his companions in the motor car is believed to be an Italian

The prompt finding of the automobile, which was used for the murder, was due to the fact that several persons read the number, "41,113 New York," on the plate as it stood in the full glare of the electric lights in front of the hotel. The police, after finding Libby's name in the records as the owner, learned that the car was kept in a Madison Square garage. This garage was the same used to house the taxicab which figured in the $25,000 bank messenger robbery several months ago.

PRICE OF PROTECTION PAID BY GAMBLERS.

New York, July 16.—Here is the scale of prices for gambling protection by the police as given to District Atorney Whitman by Herman Rosenthal, the gambler, who was killed early today: Initial fee for being allowed to open a gambling house for roulette, faro, etc, $500. Monthly gambling house payment, $300 Initial fee for opening an afternoon pool room, $500; monthly payment to police for pool-room, $300. Crap-rooms, small, per month, $50. Crap rooms, large, per month, $250. Poker clubs, small, per month, $50. Poker rooms, large, per month, 100. The total revenue per year turned over to the authorities, according to Rosenthal's computation, is $4,000,000 for Greater New York.

Denies Any Part of It.

Libby was soon found. He admitted having the car out early in the evening, but denied having any part in the murder. Despite his protestations, the police locked him up and declared that his identification as the chauffeur in the case had been made clear.

District Attorney Whitman, who had hurried to the scene within two hours after the shooting, was making a personal investigation at the Hotel Metropole. He questioned persons, who had seen the automobile, about the actual shooting. The story of the shooting was given to Mr. Whitman as follows:

The entire shooting took place in the twinking of an eye. As Rosenthal reached the street, a man approached him. As the gambler drew close the stranger suddenly flashed a revolver and fired. Rosenthal staggered toward the doorway. As he did so a gray automobile, which had been crossing the street, drew up. The men jumped to the running board, fired a volley, then tumbled back into their seats. Rosenthal sank to the pavement with the blood streaming from a number of wounds. The man who had fired the first shot sprang into the car and it dashed away. A number of pedestrians, attracted by the shooting, ran up.

Death Is Instantaneous.

There were two bullets in one of Rosenthal's cheeks One had torn away the bridge of his nose and one, evidently the first shot, had entered the middle of the forehead. Death had been almost instantaneous. James Considine, brother of the owner of the Metropole, said:

"The shooting was so quick that it was impossible to see who did the work. I could not get the number of the car myself. I saw Rosenthal when he came out of the hotel. He started toward Broadway, then seemed to change his mind and started back. I saw the men in the car, but something seemed to tell me that Rosenthal was marked I knew that one of the men in the car was a policeman."

Intense excitement followed the shooting. Reserves from west Forty-Seventh Street station were rushed to the hotel and they fought back a large crowd that had collected. A sheet was thrown over the body and some one went to notify Mrs. Rosenthal. She collapsed when told that her husband had been murdered and then, rallying, came to the scene where the police fought their way through a crowd to let her get to the body of her husband She threw herself on the body and it was some time before she could be calmed sufficiently to be led away.

The Wife's Intuition.

When Mrs. Rosenthal recovered sufficiently to talk, she said her husband had left home about 9 o'clock last night and she understood he had an appointment with Lieutenant Becker. She had a presentiment that harm would befall her husband and tried to persuade him not to keep the appointment. She blamed the police for the murder.

"My husband left home about 9 o'clock," said the gambler's widow. "I had a feeling that all was not right for three days and I was alarmed because there had been a number of suspicious-looking men waiting across the street from our house. I told my husband he better be careful. When he told me he was going to the Metropole I said to him, 'Why not send for your brother and let him go to the hotel for you?' He replied, 'That's all right; I can take care of myself.' If he had taken my advice he would be alive now. I have felt for a week that he was a doomed man. I am convinced that the message to go to the Metropole was part of a plan to get him there and kill him because of information which he had given to the authorities about the gambling situation in New York."

Knew Death Was Coming.

District Attorney Whitman said Rosenthal told him yesterday he expected to be killed because of information he had given him.

"He came to see me yesterday. He said he did not want to go away without going before the grand jury. He said he was sure the police would kill him for making the statements about their connection with gambling. I laughed and poohpoohed at this story, but he added, 'Better men than I have been killed when the police wanted them out of the way. They will get me and you will never know who did it."

Fly-time is the airship season.

THE WAR CHEST MUST BE FILLED

Democratic Campaign Managers Need $1,000,000.

COMMITTEEMEN CALL ON MARSHALL TODAY

Pay Respects to Vice Presidential Nominee.

While Calling on the Hoosier Governor, a Number of the Committeemen Accept Tom Taggart's Invitation To Spend a Few Days at French Lick Before Returning to Their Homes—Enjoy Visit.

Chicago, July 16.—When Democratic National Chairman William F. McCombs announces the membership of the campaign committee of nine members of the national committee Thursday, the new board of strategy will find the first job that of filling the war chest. This was stated simply and directly by Roger C. Sullivan, retiring committeeman from Illinois, who told the committeemen gathered here yesterday that it would take at least $1,000,000 to run the Wilson campaign. Various ways for raising this sum were discussed by the committee, and then the whole problem was passed up to the campaign committee. The members of the new committee will not be named until Chairman McCombs has a conference with Governor Wilson at Seagirt, New Jersey. As soon as the selection is made, the members will be summoned to the "Little White House" for a conference with the candidate. The whole campaign will be talked over with Wilson.

Another matter that the sub-committee will consider is a question of campaign headquarters. Although the committee voted to establish headquarters in Chicago and New York, efforts are being made to name Chicago as the real operating center. Sullivan and other committeemen in a conference with McCombs pointed out that in past campaigns Chicago headquarters had been found convenient because of the ease with which various states might be reached. The final arrangements were left to the campaign committee.

Leaders Meet Marshall.

Indianapolis, July 16.—Eighteen members of the Democratic national committee, after breakfast at Thomas Taggart's Denison hotel today and an informal reception to local Democrats in the parlors of the same hotel, called on Governor Marshall in the executive offices of the statehouse The committee members are returning home after the Chicago meeting, and came to Indianapolis to pay their respects to Governor Marshall as the Democratic vice presidential candidate.

The members of the committee were introduced to Governor Marshall by Thomas Taggart, Democratic national committeeman for Indiana, when they called at 10 a m The committee was escorted to the statehouse, led by the Indianapolis military band, which accompanied the Marshall boosters to Baltimore. All the Democratic state officials were present at the statehouse reception

Following the statehouse reception, the committee was taken in automobiles in a sightseeing tour of the city and returned to the Denison hotel for lunch. After lunch, they are expected to go directly to the union station to take trains for their homes, which many have not seen in two months

A few members of the committee have accepted invitations from Thomas Taggart to spend a few days at French Lick before they go home.

National Committeemen composing the party who visited Indianapolis today were:

Those in the Party.

William Dorsey Jelks, Alabama; Willard Saulsbury, Delaware; Thomas Taggart, Indiana; M. J. Wade, Iowa; W. M Sapp, Kansas; Robert Ewing, Louisiana; Edward E. Goltra, Missouri; A. A. Jones, New Mexico; Robert S. Hudspeth, New Jersey; Josephus Daniels, North Carolina, John Bugger, North Dakota; William R King, Oregon; A. Mitchell Palmer, Pennsylvania; George W. Green, Rhode Island; Thomas A. Browne, Vermont; J. Taylor Ellison, Virginia; Joseph E. Davies, Wisconsin; secretary of the committee, Henry W. Dooley, Porto Rico

Chairman McCombs was prevented from coming to Indianapolis with the committee because of several important engagements in Chicago today. He expects to stop in Indianapolis on his way back to New Jersey to pay his respects to Governor Marshall, or to make a special trip here to confer with him. Committeemen Wood, of Michigan, and McGraw, of West Virginia, were prevented from coming, according to Taggart, because they were compelled to hasten back to their states to stop booms for governor that have been launched since they left their states.

Accompanying the committee were J. T. Martin, of St. Louis, sergeant-at-arms of the committee; E. J Grosscup, state chairman, and Colonel E. T. Burch, secretary of the New Jersey state committee

BLACKSMITH STOPS HEADACHE OF NEGRO

Muncie, Ind., July 16.—Wenzell Neighbors, negro, thirteen years old, was, until Monday, a victim of severe headaches, which came at frequent intervals.

When frantic, due to one of these attacks, yesterday, he annoyed "Doc" Patterson, a local blacksmith. The smithy reached over his anvil and hit the negro on the top of the head, using a heavy hammer. The headache immediately disappeared.

Neighbors ran all the way to police headquarters and told his story to Chief O. W. Williamson. Asked if he desired to have Patterson arrested, the boy said:

"What for? No, sah. I wants youse to thank Mr. Patterson," and he rubbed a welt the size of a walnut that had appeared on his dome of thought.

ADMITS CRIME TO HIS FATHER

Who Advises Son To Go and End His Life.

CONNERS GIRL'S DEATH MYSTERY CLEARED UP

New York City Prosecutor Is Given Details.

Aged Man's Dramatic Statement in Court Follows Pathetic Scene in Which Dead Child's Mother and Father of Youthful Slayer Are the Principal Characters—The Confession as Made.

New York, July 16.—Assistant District Attorney Nott announced today that two days after twelve-year-old Julia Connors was killed, Nathan Schwartz, the suspect now being hunted, confessed the murder to his own father, Samuel Schwartz. The father gave the prosecutor full details of the confession today.

"I told my boy," Schwartz declared, "that the only way for him to do was to go away and kill himself. I think he did so."

Schwartz's statement followed a pathetic scene in the office of the prosecutor. It was made in the presence of the parents of the murdered girl.

The old man's dramatic statement followed a scene unparalleled in the criminal courts building. He and members of his family were sitting in the anteroom of the grand jury, when Mrs. Connors, mother of the murdered child, was brought in.

A Pathetic Scene.

Mrs. Connors was garbed in the deepest black and plainly on the verge of collapse As she was taken into the grand jury room and saw the box containing the blood-stained garments that had been torn from the body of her outraged child, she became hysterical and her cries could be heard all through the building.

Aged Mr. Schwartz sat in his chair as if rooted to it His face became ashen pale. Finally, the tears began to flow down his cheeks and when the heart-broken mother was led from the room he called to Assistant District Attorney Nott, who was presenting the case to the grand jury, and admitted that his son, who had served a prison sentence for an outrageous assault on another child, and who was still on parole for that crime, had admitted to him that he had committed the crime.

Schwartz Is Indicted.

New York, July 16.—Nathan Schwartz, twenty-four, was indicted this afternoon by the grand jury on a charge of murder in the first degree in connection with the death of twelve-year-old Julia Connors.

The evidence was furnished by his father, Samuel Schwartz, who testified that his son had confessed to killing the child.

KING GUSTAVE AWARDS PRIZES

AMERICAN INDIAN RICHLY ENDOWED

Is Given Custody of Two Challenge Cups.

Indian, by Winning Decathlon and Pentathalon, Proves Himself To Be Champion Athlete of World. Finland Finishes Second and Sweden Third in Olympic Events at Stockholm.

Stockholm July 16.—King Gustave of Sweden personally awarded the medals to the winners in the Olympic contests. American after American stepped up before the royal presence, but the most richly endowed among them was James Thorpe, the Carlisle Indian, who captured both of the all-around events, adding a brilliant victory in the dectanion to the conquest in the penthalon earlier in the meet. For the victory in the penthalon he earned the right to hold until the next Olympic meet the challenge cup presented by the King of Sweden, and by winning the decathlon he is entitled to the custody of the challenge cup presented by the Emperor of Russia.

For almost 10 days that these competitions have held the spectators enthralled the United States has led the rest of the world combined, but a rousing finish by Sweden and scattering points gathered in by other countries brought the total scored by all other countries up to 94 when the curtain fell on the most successful set of Olympic games since the festival was revived in 1896. Against this the United States rolled up 85, or only a minority of 9. Besides the United States only three nations earned a score which ran into double figures. Finland, mainly through the efforts of the great distance runner Kolehmainen, finished second with 29 points. The Swedes landed in third place with 24, and of this number the final rush accounted for 15. Sweden's rush placed Great Britain fourth with 13, while the other countries scored as follows. Canada, 7; South Africa, 5; Germany, Greece and France, 4 each; Norway, 2; Hungary, 1; Italy, 1.

Tug of War Obsolete.

In scoring these points three are given for first place, two for second and one for third. The tug of war, besides being obsolete and likely to be dropped from future Olympics, does not allow of a third place being counted. It has not been reckoned in the totals, but if included would give three more to Sweden and two to Great Britain.

When the 1,500-meter run ended, came the decathlon, which consisted of 10 events that put the strength, skill and agility of the competitors to a severe test, Thorpe had scored a total of 8,412 points out of a possible 10,000. This landed the Indian far ahead of his nearest competitor, H. Weislander of Sweden, who had 7,724 points to his credit. Another Swede, C. Lemborg, was third with 7,412.

Previous to the victory that distinguished Thorpe as the greatest all-around athlete in the world, the United States team had galloped away from Franco and England in the 1,600-meter relay race. The men who wore the Stars and Stripes successful in this event were M. W Sheppard, Edward F. Lindberg, James E. Meredith and Charles D. Reidpath.

DEMOCRATS PICK STATE CHAIRMAN

William L. Finley Will Run Campaign for Cox.

Dayton, O., July 16.—W. L. Finley of Kenton was chosen chairman of the state executive committee by the Democratic state central committee in session here. He was empowered to name his own secretary, and selected C C Marshal of Sidney, who filled that place two years ago

Congressman Cox, in addressing the committee, said he intended to canvass the state between now and Sept. 3 and speak in behalf of the new constitutional amendments.

After the election, he said, the state organization should use its influence on members of the legislature to enact into law every platform pledge and every law contemplated by the constitutional amendments.

He urged that this could be done in a six weeks' session of the legislature if everyone connected with the state organization would loyally cooperate.

CHARGES TAFT WITH SLANDER

Senator Bailey Takes Up the Lorimer Cause.

HE ARRAIGNS TAFT FOR INTERFERENCE

Says President Tries To Influence Senate.

Texas Senator Characterizes What He Alleges Is President's Offense as "Officious and Meddlesome Interference with a Matter of Such Extreme Delicacy"—Quotes from Taft's Letter to Roosevelt.

Washington, July 16.—Charging the president with falsehood and malicious slander, Senator Bailey, of Texas, in the senate today bitterly arraigned Mr. Taft for his interference in the Lorimer case and his attempts to influence the action of the senate in that matter regardless of the evidence.

Senator Bailey, who spoke to his resolution introduced yesterday, declared it was a violation of the spirit, if not the letter, of the constitution for the president to exercise the powers and influence of his great office to control the votes of senators. Senator Bailey said he had purposely avoided bringing up this matter until after the Lorimer case had been disposed of, so the question of executive interference with the senate might not be connected with the disposition of that matter.

Reads from Letter.

There was no doubt, Baily declared, as to the president's offense, for the president himself had admitted it. He characterized the chief executive's conduct as officious and meddlesome, interfering with a matter of such extreme delicacy. Senator Baily then had the clerk read from the president's speech delivered in Boston last April; the letter the president had written to ex-President Roosevelt, January 6, 1911, urging him not to print a story on the Lorimer case in the Outlook at that time as it might interfere with the effort to oust Lorimer, and declaring his own interest in the case, and telling what he was doing to "line up some of the regular Republicans against Lorimer."

FOR DISSOLUTION OF STEEL TRUST

Washington, July 16.—The Stanley steel committee, at a meeting today, reached a tentative agreement that all the members of the committee would approve the filing of a suit for the dissolution of the Steel corporation. On other points, the Democratic and Republican members have so far failed to reach an agreement and preparations are under way for the sumbission of both a majority and a minority report.

IS WEDDED AS SLEUTHS GUARD

California's Richest Woman Marries Tennis Player.

MANY DETECTIVES ARE AMONG GUESTS

As the Bride Is Threatened with Assassination.

While Some Police and Sleuths Guard Woman's Life, Others Keep Eye on the $50,000 Worth of Wedding Presents, Which Are Showered on the Bride at Wedding Costing $60,000.

San Mateo, Cal., July 16.—Miss Jennie Crocker, richest woman in California, and Malcolm D. Whitman, of Brookline, former tennis champion, were to be married at noon today. Among the guests bidden to attend the ceremony in the fashionable St. Matthews' Episcopal church here, were a number of detectives summoned to protect the life of the heiress.

Other detectives and policemen were stationed at the Crocker home at Hillsboro, California's millionaire city, to protect Miss Crocker and to guard the $500,000 worth of wedding gifts that had been showered upon her. The extra precautions were taken as a result of threatening letters received by Miss Crocker some days ago in which she was told that she would be killed.

The detectives, who attended the church ceremony, were scattered through the edifice so that they could be instantly available should the slightest disturbance occur.

Wedding Costs $60,000.

Later, it was planned to take these detectives to the Crocker home, introducing them as guests, so that they would still be able to protect the heiress in case any attempt at assassination were made.

It is estimated that the wedding, at which Bishop Ford Nichols was chosen to officiate, would reduce the Crocker fortune by $60,000.

In addition to being a leader of California society, Miss Crocker is an ardent sportswoman. She is the owner of the Wonderland kennels, her Boston terriers, French bulls and Cocker spaniels being rated among the best in the United States.

The Bridesmaids.

Charles Templeton Crocker, the bride's brother, was selected to give her away. Mrs. Walter Martin was the matron of honor and the bridesmaids were Misses Harriet Alexander, Janetta Alexander, Julia Langhorne and Marjorie Josselyn.

Harold Fitzgerald, of New York, was best man and the ushers were Oscar Cooper, D. F. Webster, C. M. Sheaf, Jr., and Frank Crocker, a cousin of the bride. All are from New York except Cooper.

Among the wedding presents were a tiara of diamonds from Mrs. Whitelaw Reid, a watch from Mr. and Mrs. John Ward, jewels from Charles Templeton Crocker and a sapphire ring from the daughter of Mrs. Frances Burton Harrison, Miss Crocker's niece.

The honeymoon will be distinctive, Whitman and his bride having arranged to go by way of Castle Crag to the McCloud River Country club, which they have leased for a week of hunting and fishing.

GOVERNOR AFTER DUGAN'S SCALP

Kenton Man May Lose Job as One of State Inspectors.

Columbus, O., July 16—If reports current are correct, J. B. Dugan, of Kenton, inspector under the public service commission, may be the second victim of ax-wielding by Governor Harmon. Coming on the same day as the harmony meeting in Dayton, and only a few days after candidates on the state ticket had voiced the hope that the governor would not allow desire to revenge himself because the Democratic national convention at Baltimore could not "see" his presidential candidacy, the report stirred political circles considerably Added rumors of reprisals increased the uneasiness.

Dugan has not been criticized on his work as an inspector and is out of the city on official duty. His friendship to W. W. Durbin, his fellow townsman, is responsible for his alleged precarious condition.

CLOUDBURST CAUSES DAMAGE IN WEST

Lower Dam of Hondo Irrigation Project Is Swept Away.

Santa Fe, N. M., July 16.—Heavy property damage and possibly loss of life occurred, according to a report received here today, when the lower dam of the Hondo irrigation project near this city, was swept away last night by a sudden flood resulting from a cloudburst.

A wall of water twenty feet high shot down the narrow canyon and swept out onto the mesa, destroying all crops in its path, overturning the shacks of a dozen homesteaders, drowning a number of horses, cows, chickens and pigs, destroying fences and corrals. The damage is impossible to estimate until a complete survey has been made.

Local Matters.

Investigating from the notes taken in his first defense, Senator Latimer launched upon a long denunciation of his enemies whom he claimed had conspired against him and for two days held the senate by the strength of his defense. He completed his statement but a few minutes prior to the vote.

Present, not voting— Bankhead, Dupont, Latimer.

Few Senators Present.

Washington, July 13—Few senators were present when the senate met today to hear Senator Latimer continue his defense of his right to a seat in that body. The fact that not more than a dozen senators were present caused Senator Smoot to suggest the absence of a quorum and proceedings were delayed while the roll was called.

During the call for a quorum, many senators arrived and when Latimer began speaking a majority was present. The galleries were crowded, mostly with women, many of whom brought lunches were prepared for a long session

Latimer continued by hurling fresh charges at members of the minority, who were present He reviewed the Holtzhaw testimony and read from the records denials that Michael Link ever received anything for his vote for Latimer He declared Altschuler and Breckenreer cast their votes for Lorimer because they were pledged to become members of the Illinois legislature to defeat Hopkins at any cost

The barn caught fire but, through the untiring efforts of the neighbors, the flames were soon extinguished. The damage was small.

The origin of the fire is unknown, but it is supposed that it was accidentally set afire by children, who were playing about the stack.

SATURDAY - - - - JULY 20

What if we do build a "Terror," Senator Tillman? It would be just like Great Britain or Japan to come back at us with a "Horror," or something along that line, half again as big.

Colonel Henri Watterson may honestly be trying to do his best, but the chances are ten to one that every time there is a discord in the Democratic harmony chorus the audience will look in his direction.

Woodrow Wilson is to be notified of his nomination August 7, but it's a cinch that mother and the girls are already wise to the honor conferred on dad.

If New York hopes to attract visitors from the Middle West and West, it will have to break away from its wild and woolly ways.

Not content with embarrassing "Uncle Jud," the Democratic state executive committee has added insult to injury by selecting "Wild Bill" Finley, as he is sometimes called by those members of his party who are not particularly enrapt with his political methods, as its chairman.

Still, even if the heat down at Washington is as great as members of congress complain, they have at hand an easy avenue of escape. Nobody is hindering 'em.

Now watch the bull moose people paw up the ground, since the Stanley committee has decided to dissolve their great friend and backer, the Steel corporation!

It begins to look as though the Democracy, also, must have had a tidy bit with which to persuade the voter that tariff for revenue only was the one thing needed by the country for what was ailing it, when one man confesses that he contributed a quarter of a million to the campaign fund in 1904.

It's hard to imagine any fate harder than that of the Lebanon woman, who dragged out a weary existence of ninety-one years, without ever having been kissed.

The papers controlled by Dan Hanna are trying to throw a scare into their readers by suggesting the possibility of the election of James S. Sherman for president, by the senate, in the event that neither Mr Taft nor Mr. Wilson secures a majority in the electoral college and there is a deadlock in the house. There's no ground for worry according to our view—Mr. Taft will obviate the possibility of the choice going to congress—but should it happen that Mr Sherman should thus go to the White House, the great mass of the people of the land would feel safer than they could possibly feel should the reins of government fall into the hands of a bolter.

Colonel Bryan says the dawn is here for Democracy Come, come, colonel! It may be nothing more than a display of Aurora Borealis

In view of the fact that John D. Rockefeller is the heaviest stockholder in the greatest chain of restaurants on the face of the earth, we are bound to take his advice to the public, to eat less, as absolutely disinterested and sincere.

That the Americans could carry off the palm at Stockholm was so generally conceded, that the announcement of the result created little, if any, surprise. But this in no way lessens the honor which has been won by the American athletes.

Even the trust magazines appear to be tiring of the third-party movement, but it is still utilized by the paragraphers of the press to inject a bit of humor into their columns

With all the modesty for which he has become noted, Colonel Roosevelt steps forward and states that he is entitled to the credit for driving Mr. Lorimer out of the senate; that it was his refusal to dine with the senator which drove the latter out of political life. It's hard to understand how anything the colonel does or does not do is going to work. For instance he dined with Mr. Cox, as the Cincinnati leader's guest, but it will be remombered that Mr. Cox got out of politics rather suddenly shortly thereafter.

Colonel Roosevelt having claimed all the credit for unseating Mr. Lorimer, it's hard to understand how the Chicago Tribune will be able to refrain from committing its strenuous friend to membership in his own club.

The Toledo Blade suggests that the United States could save money by putting the senate on "piece work." But in the light of what the house hasn't accomplished this season, why limit the operation of the plan to the upper house of congress?

Mr. Cortelyou says it cost $2,000,000 to elect Colonel Roosevelt in 1904, which is another illustration of the great dangers attendant upon the excessive use of money in presidential campaigns.

Possibly Colonel Henri Watterson's idea of supporting Governor Wilson is to editorialize on the beauties of "The Beautiful Isle of Somewhere."

This talk of circulating a petition asking both President Taft and Colonel Roosevelt to withdraw is utter nonsense. Those uttering it appear to have lost sight of the fact that Mr. Taft is the regularly nominated candidate of the Republican party, and to ask him to withdraw would be nothing else than a recognition of the party bolters.

We can not help wondering how Great Britain would construe that treaty were they our merchantmen and her canal

It will be noted that Mr. Hitchcock had it all down in his little card index system

The weatherman, possibly, may have become wise to the fact that the crops need sunshine as well as rain.

We must confess that we are not a little surprised that Colonel Roosevelt has been able to refrain so long from letting out a gentle hint to the effect that the Hon. Robert M La Follette is an "irreconcilable assassin of the truth," or some like gentle denomination.

Senator Bailey is predicting a national disaster. Off hand, we assume he is about to re-announce his purpose to let loose of his toga.

It's always a source of great satisfaction, to the fellow contemplating a vacation, to figure that it would cost him about as much to live at home as it would at the seaside or on the lakes, and that, no matter what the cost, the state of his health renders a vacation imperative

There are people so lost to a sense of the fitness of things that they actually hold out that they like baked bananas for dinner in the heated season.

If he is correctly quoted, Colonel Roosevelt proposes to make his campaign on the high cost of living, no doubt feeling that he acquired not a little knowledge on the subject during his seven years in the presidential chair which might result advantageously were it applied to the problem

Considering the amount of moisture precipitated the past few weeks, the Chautauqua people should anticipate fair weather for their big program at the fairground.

The Bull Moose says the men behind him have been the backbone of the Republican party. Imag'ne, if you can, the grand old Republican party struggling along with such vertebrae as Jimmy Garfield, Gif. Pinchot, Bill Flynn, Dan Hanna, "Sure Shot" Heney, young Quay, Ormsby McHarg and George Perkins.

The announcement is made that congress expects to adjourn in August, which is the one possible excuse one might have for looking ahead with pleasure to the coming of August

"I note," observed the restaurant philosopher at luncheon today, "that Mr. Doolittle advises all husbands to see that their wives get vacations even if they, the husbands, can not That's all right and proper, possibly, but you take it from me that I'm too gallant to allow my wife to go away alone on a vacation. I wouldn't have the nerve to detract from her enjoyment of vacation time like that" And then he winked

AS TO ELECTORS.

The question of whether our archaic and clumsy system of choosing president and vice president by means of electors is not going to defeat the people's will in some of the states this fall is causing not a little worriment in some quarters A citizen of Minnesota writes to a New York newspaper to inquire if there will be an opportunity to vote for Taft in the State of Minnesota, "where the bolters and third-termers appear to own everything, from the delegates to the press" In Kansas the real Republicans are not trustful of the electors which their state convention named, and now that Taft is the nominee of the party they want sure-enough Taft electors

The situation looks complex and susceptible of manipulation in the interest of irregular candidates But a few simple things, which must be observed, will insure order and direct voting Every presidential party which puts a ticket in the field in any state must have its own presidential electors It must have its name at the head of the ticket, though it need not name thereon its candidates for president and vice president. The electors who receive the majority of the votes cast in each state will vote for the candidate of the party under which their names appeared, and for no other.—New Haven Register.

J. H Lahrmer, the superintendent of the C, D & M, was in the city on business, Wednesday.

TEDDY AND BRYAN.

Former President Roosevelt can not be mentioned in the same breath with William Jennings Bryan as a strategist. The former went to Chicago with a massed support that he had built up by the presidential preferential primaries and a whirlwind campaign. He was the most audacious exponent of personal force the country could disclose. He was a whirlwind as long as the elements of wind and fury were with him. But when he struck Chicago he dropped in an air hole and met with a fatality that ended his Republican career. Roosevelt was out of his element when he found himself where real strategy had to be displayed. He fluctuated He did not know his own mind. He issued pronunciamentos one moment and altered them the next He set up first one man and then another and finally he sought to hide his humiliation by skulking out of the convention and declaring that he would no longer slide down the Republican party cellar door. This was a baby act and the country smiles broadly at the way he took his battered hat out of the ring and sought to have it cleaned and shaped in a twenty-five-cent-third-party hat parlor.

William Jennings Bryan came to Baltimore without any coherent following, without any display, simply as reporter of the gathering and with the right to sit as delegate-at-large in the Nebraska delegation From the beginning to the end he has shown the greatest strategy, turning even his seeming defeats into victories, and where this could not be done, giving them an interpretation and application that utterly bewildered his foes. His passage from point to point in his march through the convention was marked by the decimation of the ranks of his foes. It is not a question now of how the convention and its work shall enter into the prospects of the Democratic party. The fact has been established that William Jennings Bryan is the greatest political strategist in the country, and for this very reason is as much a man to be reckoned with as was Roosevelt prior to his third party fiasco. Bryan will reach his cul de sac also.—Baltimore American.

DANIEL D. RESLER IS FOUND DEAD IN STORM

Dies of Heart Trouble Near Home Saturday Night.

IN FALLING RESLER SUFFERS BROKEN NECK

Mrs. Resler Is Waiting at Door for the Return of Husband When She Is Informed of His Death—A Brother Is Found Dead Some Time Ago—Leaves a Family.

The lifeless body of Daniel D. Resler, of Kensington avenue, was found within 100 feet of his own home, about 8 o'clock Saturday evening, by Thomas Merchant, who was passing along the street. Mrs. Resler was waiting for the return of her husband at the front door of their residence, but on account of the darkness caused by the storm did not see her husband approaching, and she was almost overcome when told that his lifeless body had been lying in the terrific rain storm so near their home for almost three-quarters of an hour.

Mr. Resler, who worked for George W. Bolander, the gardener, enroute home from work had stopped up street to make a few purchases and got off the street car at Kensington place at 7 o'clock. Mrs. J. A Makeever saw the man pass her home at that hour, and it was nearly 8 o'clock when Mr. Merchant found him lying face downward on the walk in front of the residence of J. J Crawley.

Coroner W. H. Hinklin was called and stated that Resler had died of heart failure, and that in falling had struck his chin on the walk and broken his neck. In falling he had pitched forward on his stomach, and must have died immediately as not a muscle had moved after he struck the ground. The coroner examined the body thoroughly for signs of his having been struck by lightning, but no marks could be found, and all indications showed that he had suffered an attack of heart trouble.

Mr Resler was sixty-five years of age and leaves a widow, one daughter, Mrs C. E. York, of east St. Louis, Illinois, and two brothers, J. A Resler, of Caledonia, and Columbus Resler, of Missouri. Another brother, Joseph Resler, was found dead along the railroad tracks near Caledonia, about six years ago, and it was supposed that he had been killed by a passing train.

Mrs York was sent for, Saturday night, and arrived here, Sunday day evening about 7 o'clock. Mr. Resler, of Caledonia, left a short time ago in his automobile for a visit with his wife's people in the East and every effort was made to locate him.

MUCH OVERSTOCKED WITH SWEET PEAS

Plants Flowers Instead of Vegetables in Ten-Acre Field.

Friends of genial James J. Anderson are having sport at his expense as the result of his experience as a gardener. Last spring Mr. Anderson purchased a lot of seed and planted what he supposed was a large plot of peas. Before he left on his vacation trip he staked the vines and placed everything in readiness for the proper care of his proposed crop. Upon his return he found a luxuriant growth of sweet peas, the variagated blossoms furnishing a picturesque sight for lovers of floral beauty.

There is every indication that a two-horse wagon will be needed to harvest the blossoms and if grocers and others who are telephoning Mr. Anderson to get prices on new peas do not cease their actipity Mr. Anderson threatens so skip the country. A small bed of sweet peas is a thing of pleasure, Mr. Anderson thinks, but a ten-acre field is really too much of the good thing.—Bellefontaine Index-Republican.

STROM KING RAGES OVER MARION COUNTY

Leaves Damaged Buildings and Fields in Wake.

PECULIAR FEATURE OF HEAVY STORM

Barn Is Burned Southeast of the City—Houses in Marion Are Damaged by Lightning—The Crops Throughout the County Suffer. Electrical Service Is Crippled.

Following a rather hot day, Marion and Marion county was swept by an unusually heavy electrical, wind and rainstorm, Saturday evening.

The storm was indeed a combination of two, which came threateningly down upon the city from the northeast and southwest, and, for some time, the bold as well as the timid had real cause for alarm, as the storm clouds bore some of the features of clyconic effects that might follow in their wake.

When the storm sections struck the city, a peculiar feature was noted by the observing. One series of clouds traveled rapidly north, while a lower strata moved as rapidly in the opposite direction. It was regarded fortunate in the extreme by those who noted the conditions, that the two storms did not come into actual collision.

Damage Extensive.

The damage done by lightning and wind throughout the city and county was extensive. It will total many thousands of dollars in damaged buildings and crops.

Farmers from all quarters of the county, and especially in the vicinity of Prospect and Caledonia, report their oats broken down, and entire fields of corn lying flat on the ground. The heavy rain was also unwelcome, as many of the farmers have been hampered in their corn cultivation by muddy fields.

In the city, many shade trees were damaged, and the same condition is found throughout the county. The electrical equipment of the city was put out of commission for a time, and the telephone service suffered heavily.

Barn Is Burned.

A big barn on the farm of William Cecil, about two miles from Cardington, was struck and burned to the ground. Thirteen tons of hay were consumed, and one horse was burned to death. The big blaze attracted attention from points nearly all over Marion county, and there was wide speculation as to the location of the fire. The brilliant flashes of lightning, and the blaze were watched by hundreds in this city.

Residence Wrecked.

The home of Mrs. Blanche Givin, of Uhler avenue, was almost totally wrecked as a result of having been struck during the severe storm. The large chimney near the front of the house was first struck, and the lightning, after tearing away a part of the roof, switched to the kitchen chimney, and wrecked that part of the roof. As a result, the rain flooded the apartments of the home, and it was necessary for Mrs. Givins, who is a widow, with her little daughter, Thelma, to take up their residence with a neighbor until such time as repairs can be made. Mrs. Givin, while shocked by the lightning, was not injured, but her daughter, who is about ten years of age, suffered considerably from the shock.

Homes Are Damaged.

The John Carpenter home, on south Grand avenue, was struck and slight damage was done This damage consisted of a shattered chimney, and a broken roof.

Lightning played some peculiar pranks and caused a small blaze at the home of William Travis, of north Main street, about 8 o'clock Saturday evening, as a result of which the central fire department was called out. The lightning followed a pair of telephone wires into the house, made its way through a partition of one of the rooms, tearing a large hole in the partition, knocked the chimney from the house, and set fire to the roof of the kitchen. The burning wires fell on the roof of the barn, and set fire to it. The heavy rain assisted the occupants of the house in extinguishing the fire before the department arrived.

BUGGY AND AUTO ARE DAMAGED IN COLLISION

Edward Drake's Auto Strikes Buggy of William Allen.

William Allen and his family narrowly escaped serious injury as the result of the collision of his buggy and an automobile driven by Edward Drake, on north Main street, about 8 o'clock Sunday evening. Allen was driving north, on the right side of the street, when he was run down by Drake a short distance north of the Garden City pike.

Drake had only one lamp lighted on the front of his machine and was driving south on the wrong side of the street. Allen did not see him coming until too late to turn aside. He tried to turn into the ditch at the side of the road, when the automobile hit the buggy squarely in the side, overturning it and throwing the occupants into the ditch. They were unhurt. The buggy was destroyed, and the automobile damaged to the extent of $25. Monday morning Drake made a settlement with Allen. Allen is a tenant on the Frank Coon farm, north of the city. Hypodermics were used, and at a late hour the man regained consciousness to a slight extent. His condition, Monday was reported much improved, and it is thought he will soon recover.

McCortney is about twenty-five years of age. He has been in poor physical condition, and but recently left a hospital. He has been visiting at his sister's home about three weeks. Lost health is attributed as the cause for the attempt to end his life.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Lenon, of Monroe street, have received a letter from the officials of the regular army stationed at Sackett Harbor, New York, giving the particulars of the death of their son, Leslie Lenon, who was drowned a week ago Monday.

The letter stated that young Lenon with two companions, all members of the regular army, were fishing along the banks of Lake Ontario when the accident occurred. The boys were station about forty yards apart One of the men heard a rock slip from a cliff and glanced up just as the young man struck the water. The body never came to the surface, and was recovered from the lake about seven minutes after it went down. The young men worked with their unfortunate companion about an hour, but their efforts were in vain The letter also told of the excellent habits of young Lenon and stated that he was a good soldier.

According to the local undertaker, the left side of the face of the deceased was cut, and one of the arms was broken in two places, which leads to the supposition that the young man struck the rock, which slipped under his feet, as he struck the water, rendering him unconscious.

ADMITS PURCHASE OF THE LAND INVOLVED

Matter of Allmendinger Against Straus Brothers' Company.

DEFENDANT ALLEGES DEFECT IN THE TITLE

Is Willing To Pay Balance of Purchase Price on Delivery of a Deed Without Defect—William N. Robinson Begins an Action in Common Pleas Court.

In the case of Joseph W. Allmendinger and others against Straus brothers' company, a corporation with headquarters in Indiana, to compel the latter company to accept the deed and title to a farm purchased from the plaintiff last December, the defendant company filed an answer and cross-petition in the common pleas court, Monday, through Attorneys Mouser & Moloney.

In the answer, the defendant company admits the purchase of the land from the plaintiff for $9,150, a deposit of $500 being made at the time, and the deed being placed in the Marion County bank to be delivered on the payment of the balance of the purchase price. The defendant company states in the cross-petition, that at the time of the execution of the deed there was a defect in the title, and by reason thereof the deed of conveyance did not convey the title of land to the defendant company. The cross-petition further states that the defendant company is ready to pay the balance on the conveyance of the title to the land, but asks that a conservator or committee be appointed and directed to execute and deliver the deed upon the payment of the balance of the purchase price.

An action to secure judgment for $453.49 was started in the common pleas court, Monday by William N Robinson, through his attorneys, DeGolley & DeGolley, against Samuel L. and Minnie Robinson with the Marion Savings bank, the City National bank, the Marion County bank, the Fahey bank, the Marion Savings bank, the Citizen's Building & Loan company, the Marion Building, Savings & Loan company and the Home Building, Savings & Loan company as party defendants.

The petition sets forth that the plaintiff gave to the defendants in principle, his pension from time to time, from December 1910, the same to be deposited by them to his credit in some reliable bank.

The plaintiff also asserts that he loaned money to the defendants in small sums at various times, and that the money he gave for deposit to his credit was deposited to their own. He further states that with interest from the date the funds were turned over to them, the sum reaches $453.49. He asks for judgment to this amount to draw any money which they have on deposit until the case is settled.

FLY POISON TAKES LIFE OF CHILD

Mr. and Mrs. William Ebright Are Bereaved Sunday.

Sucking the poison through one of the sponges in a can of Daisy fly killer resulted in the death Sunday of William, two-and-a-half-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William Ebright, residing at Oraville, Union county, a village about four miles south of Ostrander.

The child drank the poison on Thursday, and death occurred Sunday at 11:30 o'clock, after the child had suffered agonies. One of the other children told her what he had done, and she hastily gave the child milk as an antidote. The child apparently recovered in a few hours, after being very sick, and Friday was able to play about.

Friday night the youngster again became desperately ill and continued to suffer until death. The affair has cast a gloom over that community. The parents and two other children are prostrated with grief.

Father Scholz left Marion but a short time ago, after a protracted service here as assistant pastor. He was succeeded here by Rev. Father Creager, who is now the assistant priest. # PHILLIPI IS ARRESTED BY CONSTABLE ULLOM

Entering Inhabited Dwelling in Night Season,

IS THE SERIOUS CHARGE PLACED AGAINST HIM

Accused of Entering Bed-Room Occupied by Emery Kibler and Securing Valuables — Imprisonment for Life Is Penalty Unless Jury Recommends Mercy.

Charged with breaking into and entering an inhabited dwelling in the night season, John Phillipi was arrested by Constable James Ullom, Tuesday afternoon. Both Constable Ullom and Constable Long worked on the case.

Phillipi was taken to the office of Justice Gompf. It happened that Kibler was present at the time, and he at once confronted Phillipi with the alleged crime. Phillipi denied his guilt, and was sent to jail till Wednesday morning.

The conversation between Kibler and the prisoner was of much interest to the officials and spectators.

Phillipi turned to Kibler with a statement that he was not guilty of the crime. Kibler responded:

"Why, didn't I see you standing by my bed, and didn't I see you pull my pocketbook from under my pillow? You also got my certificate of deposit. I have known you four years, and it was you."

Phillipi asked, "What good would the certificate do me?

Kibler responded that it would do him no good, as he had probably burned it when he found out it was without value to him.

In the course of Kibler's identification of Phillipi, he told the prisoner of his having mud on his shoes when he entered the room.

Phillipi denied that he had mud on his shoes, and then noting his mistake in making such reference said:

"I mean, how could the other fellow have had mud on his shoes on the Fourth of July?"

Wednesday Phillipi was taken before the justice, when he waived examination and was committed to jail in default of a bond of $500.

The penalty for Phillipi's alleged crime is life imprisonment, or not less than five years or more than thirty years upon recommendation of mercy by the jury.

Prosecuting Attorney Charles L. Justice, who drew the affidavit, which was filed in the court of Justice Charles E. Gompf, says that it is the first affidavit of the kind filed in the county during the three and one-half years he has been prosecutor

The night of July 4, Phillipi is charged with breaking into the bedroom of Emery Kibler, aged eighty-one years, and taking his pocketbook containing $15 34, a certificate of deposit on the Marion National bank for $110, a gold watch and a razor. Entry, it is claimed, was made by entering through an outside window.

At the time, Mr. Kibler lived at the home of Charles Phillipi, a brother of John Phillipi, on Quarry street July 10, the old man told his troubles to Justice Gompf, and the justice advised him to see the prosecuting attorney. Mr. Kibler said that he had not reported his loss before because the aged mother of Phillipi had been seriously ill, and he feared the shock might kill her.

PROCEEDING BEGUN IN COMMON PLEAS COURT

Daniel Sult and Others Seek To Quiet Title to Land.

TWO MINORS NAMED AS THE DEFENDANTS

Benjamin and Inez Hinamon Must, Through a Guardian, Set Forth Any Claim They May Have in Property — Mistake of Scrivener Leads to Litigation.

Daniel Sult, widower of Christina Sult, deceased, Harry D. Sult, Ansy Sult, Albert E. Irey, Albert Peacock and James Peacock against Benjamin Hinamon and Inez Hinamon, minors over the age of fourteen years, is the title of a petition field in the common pleas court by Harry D. Sult, through his attorneys, Carhart & Warner, Wednesday, to quiet a title to forty-three and a half acres of land in Pleasant township.

The petition recites that Christina Sult purchased the tract of land from John L. Hinamon and Sallie, his wife, and received a general warranty deed, but owing to a mutual mistake an error was made in the description of the land. A quit claim deed was executed and delivered by the Hinamon heirs to Christina Sult, and heirs giving a full title to the land described, but by a mistake of the scrivener the minor defendants appear to have some right in the property.

Daniel Sult has been in possession of the land for more than twenty years, and to clear the title the plaintiff asks that a guardian be appointed for the defendants, and that they be made to set up any claim they may have in the land, and that the title be quieted.

In the case of E. L. Coddington against the Marion Tool & Specialty company, Fred L. Carhart, receiver of the defendant company, filed his report in the common pleas court, Wednesday. The receiver charges himself with $1,110.94, realized from the sale of stock, with disbursements amounting to $790.19, leavinging a balance of $320.75. The receiver asks the court for an order to pay the balance to E. L. Coddington, on a judgment obtained by him against the Marion Tool & Specialty company for work and labor performed during three months prior to the appointment of the receiver, and that the receiver be discharged, and his bondsmen released.

Through her attorneys, Crissinger & Guthery, Annie S. Brown filed a petition in the common pleas court. Wednesday, against the Ohio Farmers' Insurance company and Martha Mears, Elizabeth Brown, Adelain Brown and Fred E. Guthery as party defendants to collect insurance to the amount of $1,000 from the defendant in principle, and require the party defendants to set forth any interest they may have in the insurance.

The petition sets forth that the plainiff is a third owner in fee simple of a dwelling situated in Montgomery township, and has a life title to the remaining two-thirds of the premises. It states that she had the house insured for $1,000, and the other buildings for $775, from March 2, 1911, to March 12, 1914, and that a mortgage on the house was held by Attorney F. E. Guthery to the amount of $800 The policy of insurance was to contain a clause making the insurance payable to the holder of the mortgage for the amount of the mortgage and interest. Through a mistake of the parties this clause was overlooked, and the plaintiff asks that the court relieve this mistake, and the policy be made to conform with the intentions of the parties to it. It further asks that F. E. Guhery who is a party defendant, be made to set up whatever interest he may have in the premises, and that others next of kin do likewise.

The second prayer in the petition states that the house was destroyed by fire, January 4, 1912, causing a loss of $1,800 or more, but that no part of the amount for which the residence was insured has been paid by the defendant company, because Martha Mears, Elizabeth Brown and Adelain Brown claim an interest in the policy, which was held by the plaintiff. She asks for interest from January 31, 1912, on the insurance due, and that the latter named defendants be compelled to set up what interest they have, or claim, in the policy.

Through its attorneys, Copeland & Bartram, the Home Building, Savings & Loan company filed a petition in the common pleas court, Wednesday, against Oswald Wollenweber and Bertha W. Wollenweber, with the Marion Savings Bank company as a party defendant, to foreclose a mortgage held by the plaintiff company.

The petition recites that on or about April 11, 1910, Oswald Wollenweber and Bertha W. Wollenweber executed and delivered to the Marion County bank a promissory note for $10,000 with ten interest coupons attached, the first two of which have been paid. The note is secured by mortgage. The terms provided that if default be made in the payment of any one of the interest coupons attached to said note, and representing the semi-annual interest on said note, then the whole principal sum of the note should become due at the option of the holder.

The interest coupons of October 11, 1911, and April 11, 1912, are past due and unpaid. There is now due on the principal note the sum of $9,550.40, which with the interest on the interest coupons amounts in all to $10,187.72. The plaintiff company purchased the note from the Marion County bank, May 17, 1910.

The Marion Savings Bank company claims some lien on the mortgaged property, which is located on south Greenwood street in what is known as the Gottfried Leffler addition, this lien being unknown to the plaintiff, but which is set forth as being inferior, and subsequent to the plaintiff's mortgage. The plaintiff prays that on hearing an account to be taken of the amount due on the note and mortgage, and that the Marion Savings Bank company be required to set forth its claims and rights, or be forever barred from doing so. The foreclosure of the mortgage is asked, and, if there be a balance from the sale of the property, that judgment be rendered against the defendants, and the plaintiff be relieved of costs and given other proper relief.

Through Attorneys Carhart & Warner Charles Crock, Thaddeus Crissinger, James E. Cyphers, Jacob Crock and Frank Collins filed a petition against Judson Bending, in the common pleas court, Wednesday, asking that a receiver be appointed for a company composed of the parties involved.

The petition sets forth that they own some machinery, a saw mill and kilns on property in Martel, and by reason of being unable to conduct the business because of disagreement with the defendant, and his intention to sell part of the machinery. The plaintiffs assert that they are entitled to a dissolution, but are unable to agree on a method, and for these reasons a receiver is asked, and that the firm be dissolved.

In the case of the Troy Trust company, as trustee, against the Columbus, Marion & Bucyrus Railroad company, an amendment to the petition was filed in the common pleas court, Tuesday morning, making the Ohio & Western Lime company a party to the suit. The amendment sets forth that, according to the records, the Ohio & Western Lime company has a lien on the property for $7,620.94 for stone, other material, and labor furnished by said company. The plaintiff asks, through its attorneys, Finley & Gallinger, that the Ohio & Western Lime company be required to set forth any claims or lien on the premises it may have or forever be barred from doing so.

Through his attorneys, Mouser & Moloney, Ernest Eitner filed a petition in the common pleas court, last Tuesday praying for a divorce from Grace Eitner. The petition sets up that they were married at Traverse City, Michigan, April 10, 1910, and that following their marriage they lived at Defiance for three weeks, after which time the defendant ran away with a man named Wentz and has not since been seen or heard from. He asks for divorce, that the defendant be barred from any interest in his holdings, and all other proper relief.

TO ALLOW PENSION CLAIMS PROMPTLY

Congresman Anderson Plans To Expedite the Work.

In order that the old soldiers, who are dying at the rate of 40,000 a year, may have their claims for increased pensions under the new Sherwood law adjudicated within a reasonable time, and before it is too late for many of them, Representative Anderson, of the Sandusky district, will introduce a bill appropriating $50,000 for additional clerical help for the pension bureau.

Commissioner of Pensions Davenport reports that about 418,000 applications have been filed under the new law, and these are being passed upon at the rate of a little more than 500 a day Unless the work is facilitated, it would take more than two years to dispose of the applications now on hand. In this time, 80,000 veterans or more will have died.

Congressman Anderson hopes, by increasing the pension office force to make possible the disposition of all cases within a year or so. Hundreds of veterans in the Soldiers' home at Sandusky, and throughout the district are vitally interested in this.—Sandusky Star-Journal.

WILLIAM GOODRICH DIES OF HIS INJURIES

Morrow County Farmer Victim of Terrible Accident.

IS IMPALED ON THE HANDLE OF PITCHFORK

Handle Breaks Off—Victim Removes Piece from His Body Before Assistance Reaches Him—Efforts of Surgeons Prove Fruitless and Death Relieves His Sufferings.

William Goodrich, who resided on his farm near Mt. Gilead and was quite well known to many people of eastern Marion county, died Sunday night as a result of a sickening accident suffered by him last Friday.

While sliding from a load of hay Goodrich dropped onto the end of a pitchfork handle, the fork having been left leaning, standing almost erect, against the side of the loaded wagon.

Mr. Goodrich is of heavy weight and the force of the fall was such as to drive the fork handle deep into the body, from ten to twelve inches, holding him for an instant on the point, with his body in an upright position and the lower limbs hanging In passing into the body, the end struck one of the hip bones and the handle broke off, letting Mr. Goodrich fall to the ground.

While thus painfully injured, Mr. Goodrich removed the piece of broken handle before his son could come to his assistance. In piercing the body the handle punctured the bowel, passed along the canal for a short distance and then broke through, thus making two serious punctures. Drs. R. L. Pierce and J. H. and S. Jackson, of Mt. Gilead, hurried to the scene of the accident and performed a most delicate operation, sewing up both punctures in the bowel The operation was quite remarkable and was performed under conditions most trying, as such a case needs the conveniences of a hospital.

FREIGHT WRECKED IN CALIFORNIA

Conductor and Brakeman, Both Badly Injured, Realize That On-Coming Passenger Must Be Flagged, and They Crawl Along, Stopping Train Just in Time.

Los Angeles, July 17.—Though shockingly injured, two Salt Lake railroad trainmen each crawled half a mile in opposite directions along a track and flagged a passenger train which was rushing to collision with a freight train which was wrecked when it hit a huge bowlder on the track. The heroes are M. Genior, a brakeman, and William Bagsley, a fireman.

The dead are Walter Clay, conductor, and Genier, a brakeman.

The wreck of the freight occurred Tuesday.

The acts of Bagsley and Genier saved three hundred lives.

The freight train struck the bowlder, hurling engine and tender in a crumpled mass and piling freight cars on top of one another.

Genier, the rear brakeman, was in the caboose. In the impact, his nose was broken, foot crushed and an iron rod was driven through his check. He staunched the flow of blood, and crawled a mile back down the track and flagged passenger train, No. 1.

Engineer Raymond, seared with steam, crawled from under the wreckage and stumbled onto the prostrate form of Bagsley.

"Are you badly hurt?" said Raymond.

"No," answered Bagsley.

"Then go flag No. 2," answered Raymond, falling unconscious.

Bagsley, his ankle wrenched and side injured, dragged himself down the track and around a point and flagged passenger train, No. 2. Then Bagsley became unconscious, remaining so five hours.

MAY EXPLAIN TRAIN WRECK

Woman Operator May Have Been Demented.

COINCIDENCE HAS A BEARING ON PROBE

Operator To Be Most Important Witness.

Information Comes Out as Result of Wreck at Western Springs, Illinois, Last Sunday, That Woman Signal Operator, Who Is on Duty at Time, May Be Same One Who Is Sent to Hospital Recently.

Chicago, July 17.—Investigators of the wreck of the Denver Limited on the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad at Western Springs, Sunday, have today discovered a strange coincidence which may have a bearing on the probe. Mrs. F. A. Wilcox, signal operator at Western Springs, will be the most important witness at the inquest that will begin tomorrow.

Investigators have discovered that a Mrs. Fisk A. Wilcox, former telegraph operator employed as a state agent at Highwood, near Western Springs, was sent to the detention hospital at Dunning as insane and was discharged after a six months' treatment. The woman held as insane lived at Lagrange and had separated from her husband, a former railroad employe.

The signal operator at Western Springs lives at Lagrange. She has been separated from her husband, formerly a railroad employe, and had been employed, she said, for six years as a railroad station agent at Hollywood station, near Western Springs.

May Be Same Woman.

The demented woman was committed to the asylum in 1908, and her age was given as forty. Mrs. Wilcox, the signal operator, appears to be about forty-five. Persons in Lagrange say that the signal operator's husband was Fisk A. Wilcox.

Mrs. Wilcox has been kept seclusion since the railroad investigation of the accident. Railroad officials refused to affirm or deny that the signal operator and the woman cared for by the county as insane are the same.

The wreck at Western Springs occurred on the second night Mrs. Wilcox was on duty. She worked one night more, but was not on duty last night.

LIGHTNING AGAIN TURNS A TRICK

Two Men Knocked Unconscious and a Horse Killed.

Two men rendered unconscious, one horse killed and another so injured that it will probably have to be killed, was the result of a stroke of lightning that hit a telephone pole just east of Kilbourne Wednesday morning about 9:30 o'clock. Mr. Alfred Shively and son were driving in the wagon when the storm came up. Just as the boy was tying the team to a telephone pole, a flash of lightning hit the wires and the current ran down the pole, resulting in the accident. The boy was unconscious at noon, but recovered shortly thereafter.

SENSATIONAL DEVELOPMENTS

They Don't Hold Water.

"No single explanation of the many that have been advanced about the gambling squabbles—and several of these explanations have come directly from the police—holds water.

"This man, Rosenthal, had for many years been mixed up in gang fights. He had been seriously involved either directly or through his friends in the fights that brought about the death of "Spanish Louis" and "Kid Twist," two notorious gang leaders, and yet he was not harmed at these times by rival gangsters, who perhaps might have felt that they had cause to attack him.

"And for months preceding this murder his relations with the gangs have been pleasant enough for him to look for no danger in that quarter. His promised exposure concerned the police. He had said he would tell nothing about other gambling houses or gamblers.

"Just a few hours before he was to come to my house and try to make good his charges he was killed. Now the charges are practically dead—they mean little or nothing. The gain to those accused by Rosenthal's death is apparent.

"I repeat that my personal belief is that behind the gang that killed Rosenthal was a bigger motive than mere revenge. The death was a protection to the 'system' because it stopped one tongue, and was a lesson to others that might show a tendency to wag."

Becker Shows Up.

Lieutenant Becker appeared at police headquarters at 9:30 this morning. He said he had been out hunting for "Jack" Rose, who is being sought in connection with the case.

Shortly after Becker reached police headquarters, it was learned that Mayor Gaynor had taken a hand in the case and had detailed the lieutenant to find Rose. It was said that Becker had been detailed to run down Rose, following a conference which Police Commissioner Waldo held with Mayor Gaynor.

While funeral services were being held for Rosenthal, efforts were being made to induce the widow of the slain gambler to leave New York so that she could not give further information to the district attorney's office relative to her husband's affairs. One of the overtures was made by a woman, who called Mrs. Rosenthal on the telephone and tried to make an appointment to meet her in a hotel in the heart of the "white light" district. Friends of the widow tried to run down the call, but only succeeded in learning that it had been sent from a point near Broadway and Forty-First street.

"Some people are trying to get me out of New York just as soon as Herman is buried," declared Mrs. Rosenthal. "But I don't intend to go. I will stay and tell District Attorney Whitman all."

WOOD IS RESCUED BY HIS NEIGHBORS

Kicked by Horse in Barn Which Is Fired by Lightning.

Myron Wood, who resides on the James Curlis farm, south of Sycamore, was badly kicked by a horse when trying to rescue the horses from his barn, which was struck by lightning Monday. There were five horses in the barn, and after rescuing one of them Mr. Wood was kicked by another and had to be taken from the burning building by neighbors. The other four horses perished in the flames. Mr. Wood was able to be about Tuesday.

THOUSANDS IN JEWELRY GONE

Salesman's Guard Is Robbed of $25,000

ON CHICAGO STREET IN BROAD DAYLIGHT

A Suitcase Is Stolen in View of Hundreds.

Salesman Employs Man To Watch His Samples, and While Guard Sits on One Case, Watching Crowds Passing, Some One Walks Away with Another Case Containing Jewelry Worth $25,000.

Chicago, July 18.—A suitcase containing $25,000 in jewelry was stolen in the view of hundreds of persons passing the Silversmith building, No. 12 south Wabash avenue, today. The case was the property of Jacob Lavin, a jewelry salesman. It was taken from Patrick McDermott, a sample carrier, who had been employed as a guard against thieves. McDermott said the valuables disappeared without his having seen the robbers. He was detained by the police.

Lavin had two suitcases containing $50,000 worth of valuables. He left them with McDermott, while he went into the building. He told McDermott to sit on one case and watch the other, he said.

"When I came out of the building, McDermott was sitting on one case and the other was gone. He seemed surprised when I asked him where it was," Lavin told the police.

"I can't imagine what happened to the jewelry," McDermott said. "There were lots of people passing and I watched them The case must have been taken when I looked away for a minute."

A case, containing $37,000 worth of jewelry is said to have been stolen from McDermott at another time.

PANAMA CANAL BILL DISCUSSED

ly different. If American ships pay the same tolls as other ships, Lodge said, nobody could go beyond that and ask where the money came from.

Some Other Tolls.

Lodge showed that the report of the commissioner of navigation that in 1910 British ships passing through the Suez canal had paid tolls amounted to £279,000 while their subsidies from the British government amounted to £375,000; the German government had paid subsidies of $1,385,000 to North German Lloyd vessels passing through Suez and the French government $2,145,000 to vessels of French lines.

In some instances, European nations made direct appropriations for the payment of tolls required of vessels flying their flags through the Suez canal. He gave Russia as an instance.

Senator Lodge said Austria paid all tolls of her vessels passing through the Suez, while Sweden and Japan paid a part of such tolls.

In all, Lodge estimated that twenty-five per cent. of tolls on vessels using the Suez canal were paid directly from the treasuries of the nations whose flags the ships flew.

Senator Nelson interrupted to say these payments were in the nature of subsidies for the carrying of mail, and the tramp steamers carrying a great volume of the trade of these countries never received such subsidies, and never had their tolls paid.

CHILD'S SLAYER ENDS HIS LIFE

Three notes were left by the suicide, one scribbled on the wallpaper, another on his collar and the third on the margin of a newspaper. In one of these he said that two minutes after his fiendish act he was sorry for having stabbed the girl to death, inflicting forty-one wounds.

"I was driven insane by the sight of a beautiful woman," another note stated.

The dead youth answered in every way the police description of Schwartz. His parents were summoned to identify the body.

The suicide hired the room in which he died July 8, the day after little Julia was found dying in a vacant lot, and told the landlord, Max Kaplain, that he was a waist cutter out of work. Schwartz was a waist cutter by trade.

PROCEEDINGS IN THE COMMON PLEAS COURT

Matter of W. N. Robinson Against S. L. and Minnie Robinson.

DENY OBLIGATIONS TO THE PLAINTIFF

State That Money Is Given Them as a Gift After Kindness Is Shown the Plaintiff in Action—Case of William R. Kannel Against Lulu Kannel—Other Notes.

In the action brought by William N. Robinson against Samuel L. Robinson and Minnie Robinson to secure judgment for $453.49, which the plaintiff claims is due him for money given to the defendants to deposit to his credit, and sums loaned them at various times, an answer to the petition was filed in the common pleas court, by the defendants, Thursday, through Attorneys Mouser & Moloney setting forth a general denial.

To the first cause of the petition, the answer states that the plaintiff boarded, roomed and secured his mending and washing at the home of the defendants without charge from September 2, 1909, to March 26, 1910, except that the plaintiff voluntarily turned over to the defendants the sum of $250 as a gift. He later came back, and lived at their home from March 17, 1912 to June 15, 1912. To the second cause of action the defendants deny that they are indebted to the plaintiff in the sum of $99.38. For these reasons, they ask that the petition be dismissed, and that they be allowed to recover their costs.

Judge William E. Scofield handed down a decision, Wednesday, in the case of William R. Kannel against Lulu Kannel, in which the plaintiff sought to secure possession of his two children. The motion for a new trial was overruled, and the order for the maintenance of the children modified to provide for the payment of $10 a month, as by former order. On the first and third Saturdays and Sundays of each month, beginning with August, the plaintiff is to have the custody of his eldest two children.

In the case of Eli M. West, as receiver, against the Prospect Light & Power company, and others, the time of the plaintiff to file an amended petition has been extended to August 19, 1912.

RECITAL GIVEN IN LA RUE OPERA-HOUSE

Miss Ina Klinefelter and Miss Easter Give Affair.

Miss Ina Klinefelter, who recently returned from Chicago, where she attended the Bush Temple Conservatory of Music, gave a recital at the La Rue Opera-house, Wednesday evening. On account of the threatening weather, the attendance was not as large as had been hoped for, but those who attended were well repaid.

The recital was one of the finest given in the village for some time.

Miss Klinefelter was ably assisted by Miss Kathleen Easter, also of the Bush Temple conservatory, who sang several solos. Miss Klinefelter rendered three groups of difficult numbers on the piano and sang one group of solos. Miss Easter sang two groups of solos. Both have beautiful voices, which show the careful training they have received, and their numbers were repeatedly encored. Miss Klinefelter not only has a rich, full voice but can play beautifully. Every selection was highly appreciated.

Gilead Tuesday afternoon, for selling three dozen of ancient eggs to the huckster wagon driven from the Denmark store last Saturday. The prosecution was made by the State Dairy and Food Commissioner's office, G. D. Dunathan, an assistant commissioner, coming to Mt. Gilead for that purpose. No defense was made by the accused.

The eggs complained of were marked by the huckster on Saturday, his suspicions having previously been aroused, and then were set aside to await the coming of the inspector, who was telephoned.

ROBERT F. BARTLETT DIES AT MT. GILEAD

The Passing of a Citizen Well Known in Marion.

HELD IN HIGH REGARD BY HOST OF FRIENDS

Mr. Bartlett Is a Soldier During the Civil War—Practices Law Many Years—A Republican Who Votes for Lincoln—Sketch of an Interesting Career.

In regard to the death of Robert F. Bartlett, well known here, the Morrow County Sentinel says:

Robert F. Bartlett, one of Mt. Gilead's oldest and most estimable citizens, died at his home on north Main street at Mt. Gilead, Monday morning about 11 o'clock. Mr. Bartlett has been in failing health for some time, and for the past two weeks it has been known that the end was not far distant.

In Mr. Bartlett's death the community suffers a severe loss. Mr. Bartlett was one of Mt. Gilead's foremost citizens, a scholar and a patriot revered by all. One of the pioneers of Mt. Gilead, he has for years been a factor in its life and development.

Robert F. Bartlett was born at Mt. Gilead, April 8, 1840, being the second of the family of nine children of Abner M. and Sarah Nichols Bartlett. He received his elementary education in the common schools at Mt. Gilead and Mt. Gilead high school, later entering the O. W. U. at Delaware.

At the opening of the war, however, he left his college work and enlisted in D company, Nineth-Sixth regiment, O. V. I. under Captain William M. Dwyer, at Mt. Gilead, August 2, 1862. He served during the entire four year period, sustaining a gun shot wound in his right arm at Vicksburg, which necessitated the removal of the member. January 25, 1864, he received his honorable discharge and returned to Ohio.

After his return to Morrow county Mr. Bartlett taught school for two years at the Sunfish district. In the spring of 1866, he became deputy clerk of the courts under J. M. Briggs, remaining until elected to the office himself in the fall of that year. He succeeded himself in 1869 and again in 1872, being nominated by acclamation by the Republican convention. In 1876 he began the study of law with Thomas H. Dalrymple and was admitted to the bar in June, 1878. The same year he removed to Cardington, where he resided for sixten years and a half while practicing law. In April, 1895, he returned to Mt. Gilead where he continued in the practice until forced to relinquish because of failing health.

Mr. Bartlett was a Republican and proud of the fact that he had cast his first vote for Lincoln and voted for each succeeding nominee of the party.

Mr. Bartlett married Miss Martha M. Miller, April 8, 1867, at her home at Mt. Gilead. The couple have one daughter, Mary Francis, the wife of William A. Jollay, of Mt. Gilead.

The funeral services were held from the late residence at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, conducted by Rev. Mr. Ward. Interment was made at River Cliff cemetery.

POLICE COURT.

John Augustine, an Italian, who has been employed at the Erie transfer house, was arrested, Wednesday afternoon, by Erie Detectives Pernod and Tilsworth, and locked in the city prison on a charge of stealing goods shipped over the road. Augustine had been suspected of a number of thefts and, after being under surveillance for some time, his arrest followed. A box, which he was shipping to Mt. Vernon, New York, contained several sweaters, several dozens pairs of socks, shirts, toilet articles, tools and advertising fans, which had been stolen. When arraigned before Mayor Walters, Thursday, to answer to the charge, Augustine entered a plea of guilty. He was fined $25, and the costs in the case, and sentenced to ninety days in the Dayton workhouse. On the payment of fine and costs, the workhouse sentence was suspended, and Augustine was relieved of the property he had stolen.

Odd Prank of Lightning.

Lightning played a queer prank on the W. P. Smith farm in Hardin county Saturday night during the electrical storm, when one end of a granary was struck and completely shattered, the force of the bolt hurling a piece of the wood with such momentum that it struck a hog and instantly killed it after traveling three hundred feet. Four cattle and ten hogs were also killed by being struck by direct bolts of lightning. A number of trees were burned to the ground.

MARRIAGE LICENSES.

Miss Bessie Ellen Fisher and Mr. Lloyd G. Allen, both of this county, were granted a license to marry Thursday.

Petition Is Allowed.

The petition for the Dunn tile ditch in Big Island township, was allowed by the county commissioners, after a visit to the ditch Wednesday.

BENJAMIN MECK HAS HIS SUIT DISMISSED

Matter Comes Up Before Judge W. E. Scofield.

In regard to a case which has aroused some interest here, the Bucyrus Telegraph says.

The case of Benjamin Meck against Daniel Babst and William J. Schwenck, filed on the 30th day of April for $25,000 damages, was, today, dismissed at the request of the plaintiff, the journal entry being as follows:

"This day comes this case to be heard upon the motion of said plaintiff to dismiss the above action without prejudice and was argued by counsel, and the court, being fully advised in the premises, do sustain the same.

"This action is therefore ordered dismissed without prejudice at the cost of the plaintiff."

The journal entry was approved by Judge W. E. Scofield and the jury was discharged without date, the term having been finished.
